Summary: From this version base from the new Anime series of a video game is being done, I thought I make this version. From Raven, Bobby, MOCHI, Mi-Ho, Raven's parents, the Blue Swordfish gang, and some made up ones...All here with the other characters with love of Phoenix and Raven to solving crimes together. Good version, huh? :) I don't really take request. Okay? Sorry, but it's good.

1. The First Turnabout

Ace Attorney Anime Series

By Tayla Drago

(Note: I'm Tayla Drago, Anime lover and supporter of all voice actors who also loves Ace Attorney series. Name it - from video game play, Manga books, crossover for some video games of it, and the Anime series itself for it finally came out from Japan 'to one day be soon in English dubbed in the future I know it, but who will own the rights? FUNimation or Bang Zoom? Besides having Sam Riegel as Phoenix Wright and Kyle Hebert as Miles Edgeworth stays'. As I bring a new version from my fan fiction base from the video game series into this Anime one. Should I keep both or do this one to having the different versions like the the Headless Horseman and so on that I come up with. What do you guys think? Anyways, I hope you guys like this one and you all tell me...Maybe I can do both or get rid of it but my made up ones, but you guys decide on the polls. For now please enjoy I'll try doing this every week with the episodes being shown.)

Episode #1 - The First Turnabout

Characters:

Phoenix Wright - Sam Riegel

*Raven Strides " Leah Clark

*Bobby Poster " Christopher Smith

Larry Butz (defendant) - Yuri Lowenthal

(Murder Victim) " Cindy Stone

Winston Payne - James Hong

(Witness) " Frank Sahwit - George Takei

Mia Fey - Megan Hollinghead

The Judge - Grant James

Shows an opening of a building during the time with the lights on at one apartment, a girl was typing things in her special laptop who loved reporting things from typing out to hacking things too as she begins talking.

"In our world today has different of the law. From murders and the court room to finding out who's innocent or who's the guilty one. You know? Some were good, bad, and whatever" I just hack into things to save the good ones and punish the evil, I'm a detective, sort of. I learn a lot more from one lawyer, a defense to saving lives in the craziest cases I have ever been through, that's right! I also find love from 'him', or he did for me at first to saving me next. This is how the story goes that started it all"

Elsewhere in some other building, a huge sound was made. Or for someone to murder another in that room with a heavy object for a woman drops dead with her head bleeding all over the floor. The man panics.

"Hmm...It's two o'clock, I think..." said the strange statue item.

The man panics after killing the woman named Cindy Stone on the floor to think of a way to getting out of the mess, while holding the bloody weapon in his hands.

"I-I've gotta pin this on someone." he said. "Oh, I know!"

The stranger remembers seeing someone passing by from earlier today, he then smirks to frame an innocent man instead of him to get away with murder.

"He'll do..."

That didn't sound good at all. The next day...It was a nice day in Japan. Somewhere in a type of office with many computers all over the room, also tons of cameras of many photos hanging all over the walls, and newspapers being made from many people all over the building from machines to handmade ones" One girl does from real detective of murder mystery skills on her laptop, to hacking, working hard on her job, and who was very smart as well as being pretty. The people loved her but her boss abuses the poor girl all the time known as Bobby Poster. The girl who wants to do her work a lot was named Raven Strides: a 23 years old, bright blue eye, wear a black and red big headphone on her head, long silver hair, and a black-like skirt with long sleeves with a blue star on it, long black and white stripe socks, and black boots. For Raven was working hard until her boss calls her in for another work to being done at a courtroom on a murder case today.

Boss Man - Bobby Poster

"Raven!" shouted Bobby.

Raven sighs, hating her boss and couldn't press charges against him, for she had no choice but to work a lot without stopping as Bobby comes in the big office room to talk to his co-workers.

"(Great. Not him again!)" she said to herself. "Yes, sir?"

Murder Mystery Solver and Hacker - Raven Strides

"I got another scoop for you."

Bobby hands Raven a huge folder filled with on what just happened to someone being murder a few days ago.

"What is this?"

"Another story for you to do for me, a murder case of one man being accuse for or so they say in being a murderer or not. Larry Butz is his name for his girlfriend Cindy Stone was killed with a powerful hit to the head with a heavy object."

Raven sees the papers and knowing that she had to type it all down secretly and fast as she could underneath her desk from Bobby in not seeing it.

"I see." said Raven.

"What's wrong?" the boss questions her. "I thought you love doing murder mysteries, it's your thing. As if you'll be a detective yourself."

"I never said it wasn't."

Bobby slams his hand on the desk to shake Raven up a bit.

"What? So you won't do it!?" Bobby snaps at Raven.

She gets a little scared and grabs the flies to take with her.

"Okay! I'll do it! I'll get your story!"

Bobby always does this in getting his way a lot in the end.

"Good. I'm not paying you too well for nothing."

"(You never paid me much as you treat me like crap at all.)" Raven said to soon leave the building. "I'm out."

"Have fun!" Bobby said in being a show off. "And pay attention to one attorney, I heard he was new but seeing how well he can be! Remember that!"

Some of the people felt sorry for poor Raven to put up with Bobby like that. As she leaves the place to get out her scoop as well as solving the case by helping one attorney lawyer in defending a man, how badly does he need the help though? Raven had to see it for herself in this courtroom on a murder case will be a very special one to happen. Having everything and names to know two attorneys along with the prosecutor name Winston Payne and the defense was Phoenix Wright was the man that she needed to report her story and so much more to come!

"Hmm! Phoenix Wright, huh? He's the guy?"

Raven soon tells about herself.

"I'm Raven Strides, I'm a reporter...For now. I'll soon be a murder mystery solver, kind of like a detective one day once I have enough money from working hard on my end, you know? So I'm working hard at some scoop thing for my so call boss who always push me too far, that I can't even sue the man though I really wish I could when I get out of that place...Hard growing up with my uncle as an actor after my parents left me behind when I was little...I'm also a hacker, for my skills will soon come in handy one day to turning things away, maybe like from today once I see what this murder mystery's all about. You know? We'll so find out."

And so Raven goes off to meeting with the lawyer to be interviewing with in today's trial, as he was getting all set up back at his apartment being Phoenix Wright himself. From his suit, hair style, bag for important things in it, and his attorney defense badge as a lawyer he was ready to go 'from checking in a mirror that all was well for him'.

"Perfect!" he said.

Off on his bike he goes to the court house to riding it in town to pushing it all the way to the street-like hills, he then tells the intro background of this whole series here.

Defense Lawyer - Phoenix Wright

"I'm Phoenix Wright, a rookie attorney, who just got his badge three months ago. And today, for the first time, I set foot in the courtroom as an attorney!"

Arriving to the courthouse, to parking his bike, and the year was around the future of 2016 of the court room to being very busy for lots of people inside of the place. For inside of the building of the room Lobby 2 a certain woman wits for Phoenix to show up being a teacher to him who was also an attorney herself being Mia Fey, the best of the best female defense attorney ever. As she was waiting still to the trial t begin.

Time: March 26, 9:47 AM

Location: District Court - Defendant Lobby No. 2

Fey & Co. Law Offices, Chief - Mia Fey

"What's keeping Phoenix?" she said. "Also the reporter too...?"

As Raven arrives so has Phoenix entering the room in a hurry.

"Excuse me!" he said to getting inside. "Sorry I'm late..."

Phoenix was worried from being late on his first day for Mia wishes that he'll be more up and going next time.

"The trial begins at 10 AM. I hope you're ready."

"I am! Sorry to force you to take time to be here for me, Chief."

Mia knows that Phoenix was a kind hearted person to be forgiven.

"Don't mention it." she said with a smile on her face. "I mean, it's my beloved subordinate's first ever defense. I wouldn't miss it in the world."

As she winks at Phoenix, he knows that he'll do his best in defending someone.

"Thank you!"

The two make their way down the hallways to be ready in the court room, also Raven was too in running down the hallways with lots of paper work to hold on to in her arms.

"But I must say I'm impressed." Mia said to Phoenix. "Not everyone has the courage to take on a homicide trial, right off the bat."

Looks Like Phoenix had his reasons in doing this besides becoming a attorney lawyer.

"I wanted..." he pauses for a bit. "no, I had to do this. Because I owe him a favor."

That was news to Mia to hear.

"A favor? To the defendant?" she ask.

"Yes. he said. "Actually, I kind of owe my current job to him. He's one of my reasons I became an attorney."

Is that so, Phoenix Wright? Do tell...

"Well, that's news to me."

The two soon arrive outside of Courtroom 2 door to soon enter inside.

"I want to help him in any way I can!"

Once the door was open, Raven runs without looking right into Phoenix to fall down to drop all of the papers of her report to be picking up with his help and Mia's too.

"Ow!" Phoenix said in pain.

"Crap!" Raven panics. "I'm so sorry about that! Didn't see where I was going!"

Raven sees the picture of Phoenix on her paper to look at him as he looks at her, his heart went crazy compare to be staring so deeply, not to mention being so speechless as well.

"Wowâ€|" he said.

"So you're the new defense attorney I have to interview with, Phoenix Wright's your name?"

Phoenix just kept on looking at Raven.

"(She'sâ€| She's so cuteâ€|)"

Raven starts to feel weird just seeing Phoenix acting strangely.

"Ahâ€| Are you okay?" she asked him.

Mia goes up to Phoenix to get the rest of the papers and snapping him out of it.

"Wright! Let's go! Its time!" Mia said.

Phoenix comes back to reality and headed inside of the courtroom.

"Oh no! It is time! Ready, Chief!"

Mia knows that Phoenix will do well, as she sees Raven on queue surprisingly.

"Raven? I'm glad you came." Mia said to her.

Raven knows a lot from Mia Fey herself being the best of the best female lawyers of all time.

"Oh, Mia. Hi! Sorry I'm late."

"Oh, no, you made it in time. I need your help to get Wright to win his first case for all of the training he did. Meaning that I need your help as well on your detective skills."

"You do?" she ask.

"You studied on the case, right?"

"I did but why me?"

Mia grabs Raven's arm as they headed inside of the court room.

"Look, Raven, it'll be fine. You two will do well working together. Andâ€| I think he likes you."

Raven points to herself after hearing the word 'like' for Phoenix likes her that she barely knows him.

"That new guy Phoenix likes meâ€|? Huh?" Raven was confused. "(Okay, I know my stupid boss wants me to do this, but of all the people like Mia Fey had to set this whole thing up. Just for me to help out a newbie like him? This sounded serious.)"

As the three now enter in the court room to be looking really big. From the judge's chair, the stands, the juries sitting spot on both sides 'never says a thing but watches the show to complaining, the defense and prosecutor's seats on both different sides, and the cops were ready to go. As Raven got her pink-like laptop up with her gloves to be ready to hack all the information into her system to aid and get the scoop from Phoenix himself for the case to be solved.

Time: March 26

Location: District Court - Courtroom No. 2

With Phoenix, Mia, and Raven taken their places and the prosecutor Winston Payne on his end does the same as well.

Prosecutor - Winston Payne

And soon Phoenix sees his client/best friend since childhood 'as one of the promises to being kept' named Larry Butz, for Mia and Raven sees him to being a bit of an odd ball.

Defendant - Larry Butz

"That's my client, Larry Butz." said Phoenix. "He's been my best friend since grade school."

A good memory to have for Phoenix and Larry to being closes friends, with some bad luck on his end. As the cop brings him to the room and started to cry to Phoenix that he was innocent.

"Nick!" said Larry to be begging for his life. "It wasn't me!"

"(That's his client...?)" said Raven to be seeing this.

The cop tries pulling Larry to be sit down on to the chair.

"What's your problem? Lemme go!" Larry said and then get force to sit down. "Nick! It wasn't me! Nick!"

Phoenix knows of this for his friend and Raven soon get to learn from looking into Larry's eyes too.

"I know. I believe you." he said. "But the newspapers say it was you."

It was true for what Raven got the reports from the other stories saying this 'Model Murder in Own Apartment in Broad Daylight! Suspect - Larry Butz, age 23.' With that title and photo of him was shown for Raven to look up. Mia sees Phoenix's friend to being selfish on his end that Phoenix was defending.

"So he's the one who motivated you to become an attorney?" Mia asked Phoenix.

"Yes." he answers. "He's a good guy at heart. He just has terrible luck."

"More like bad matters if you ask me." said Raven.

Why did she say that...? Well, Larry was falling off of his chair a lot for the cop to keep picking him back up. Oh, boy.

"He doesn't seem to have the best attitude."

Mia sees why...

"Told you so." Raven agrees.

"He just has terrible luck and a terrible attitude." Phoenix explains to the girls.

But Mia knows that Phoenix will do his best.

"Anyways, you must believe in his innocence to the very end. Do not forget that."

"I won't." he said to her.

Once the Judge arrives to be seated, others to stand, and then sit back down for the court to begin for Phoenix has to do his best against Winston to saving Larry to proving his innocence, along with Raven too for Mia to set everything up.

"Here we go then. Hacking skills of my murder mystery solving skills, please don't fail me now."

Judge

He hits his gavel to begin.

ALL RISE!

"Court is now in session for the trial of Larry Butz." he said.

The two lawyers were all set to go on both of their ends.

"The Prosecutor is ready, Your Honor." Winston said.

"The Defense is ready, Your Honor." same with Phoenix.

Once the two screens were open up on the side of the walls, for Phoenix and/or Winston to show their line of work. Raven does the same to hack and add the mystery together into one from her laptop, with Cindy Stone's picture was shown on screen and background about the murder victim.

"Then, your opening statement, Prosecutor Payne." said the Judge.

"At once, Your Honor." he said to the Judge. "The victim is Cindy Stone, a twenty-two-year-old model. She was found dead in her apartment's living room. We have concluded she was murdered from autopsy results and the state of the scene. Time of death is estimated to have been around 4 or 5 PM. The cause, blunt force trauma to the head. The murder weapon was this statue of The Thinker."

Raven was getting this whole thing down from her laptop. From hacking the screen of photo shows and information of the items left out, Cindy, cause of the death, and such all down from her typing so fast. As Winston shows the murder weapon in the courtroom while wearing some gloves.

"This is too good to be true." said Raven. "Clues, clues, don't fail me now."

"I present it to the court as evidence."

Winston places the item on the table for Raven to have it down on her end, leaving the Judge to accept it.

"Accepted." said the Judge himself to be saying this next. "But I must say, this is a modern thinker indeed."

Then Larry says this for Raven knows it wasn't 'modern' of the Thinker here.

"Not 'modern'! It's Rodin!" he said out loud. "That is a gift of love that I made with all my heart and soul!"

"Oh, so it was handmade?" the Judge asks Larry about his work.

"By the way," then Winston speaks up. "we found the defendant's fingerprints on the murder weapon."

This freaks Larry out.

"Huh?! No way!"

"(You made it by hand. Of course your fingerprints are all over it!)" Phoenix said to feel embarrassed in the matter at hand.

With Phoenix worrying, Mia knows that Phoenix will defend him as well as Raven will help him out since she knows what she can do.

"Keep it up now, Raven." said Mia.

"Ah, thanks, Mia." she said back. "(Let just hope for the best.)"

Larry cries out to his best friend again.

"Nick! Let me state my case, man...At this rate, I'm gonna be found guilty!"

Soon Winston speaks up to calling Larry first to ask him some questions.

"The prosecution would also like to call the defendant to the stand."

Not good for poor Larry.

"Very well. You may proceed." said the Judge.

Seems that Larry was too happy about this all of a sudden.

"All right! Hell, yeah!"

"Really...?" Raven questions herself.

As both Mia and Phoenix do the same thing on their end too.

"Looks like your friend has a foul mouth, to go with his terrible luck and attitude." said Mia.

Phoenix already knows about his friend way too well to see this happen in public. As Larry takes the stand, how will this turn out to prove himself that he wasn't guilty at all? Phoenix sees his friend to being by his side during their childhood years in school for Phoenix was being hurt by others to blame him over nothing during the time in class saying that he did it, but didn't and was crying a lot. Poor Phoenix...The same thing was going on to Larry like it did to himself from long ago.

"Now, Mr. Butz..." Winston speaks to Larry. "It seems you were recently dumped by the victim."

Larry says something about that part.

"Watch it, buddy! We're the twenty century's greatest couple!"

Raven gets her job done to be a shame to be hearing all of this was going on right now. Same with Phoenix to sighing.

"(The twenty century ended a long time ago, dude.)"

Continuing on...

"But lately, she'd been ignoring my calls, just a bit." Larry said. "And standing me up, just a bit."

Then Winston says this to Larry.

"That is generally what we call being dumped-"

That got to Larry pretty hard there.

"Shut up with your nonsense!" he gets angry.

"They you knew about her trip overseas?" Winston ask Larry.

Larry didn't know about that part at all.

"T-Trip overseas? That's news to me, just a bit..."

From Larry sweating to being panicking, Winston then shows a Japan passport belonging to Cindy in the courtroom.

"This is the victim's passport." said the prosecutor to showing it on screen. "According to this, she returned from New York the day before the murder."

This was news to Phoenix, Mia, and Larry to learn about - for Raven gets the rest within her laptop. Next Winston shows the another photo of Cindy on her trip of the Statue of Liberty to being shown, along with the Thinker in her hands.

"We also found a photograph taken during the trip."

Larry sees the clock that he made to Cindy to bring on her trip.

"My present..." he said with surprise.

"I present these two items to the court as evidence, Your Honor." said Winston.

"Accepted." the Judge said.

Two more items are place on the table for Raven to gather up on her end.

"Huh? Hang on a second! Who took that photo?" Larry said.

Winston had to say this to Larry.

"The man with whom she went, of course."

Larry got mad again.

"Aw! Hell, no!"

Another hissy fit that Larry was having for Phoenix to be hearing and watching all of this going on.

"(Please stop repeating that word...)"

From sweat dropping down from Phoenix's head and Larry banging his head on the table in anger. for Winston was going to win this case.

"And there we have a motive." said Winston to the people of the courtroom. "The defendant heard about this, and murdered the victim in a rage."

"Or so they think... (Something's not right here, I just know it.)" said Raven to try putting the pieces together on her end.

"Yes. This is quite the clear motive." said the Judge.

Not to Larry to proving his innocence to be mad about it still.

"Wait a second... I didn't do it, I swear!"

The Winston goes up to Larry's face to fool with him to make him look like a killer.

"By the way," he speaks. "on the day of the murder, did you visit the victim's apartment?"

"M-Maybe I did! And maybe I didn't!" said Larry.

Really...?

"I can hardly bear how dumb he is at playing dumb." said Mia.

"Tell me about it, Mia..." said Raven to agreeing with her.

Phoenix sees Raven standing by his side to almost forgetting about it.

"You-!" he said in shock.

"Still...We got to prove your friend/client innocent, right Phoenix?" Raven said with a smile at Phoenix. "Like I'll report a failure in the next story to be gathered up here."

Phoenix couldn't stop staring at Raven's beauty.

Winston tries even harder to push with Larry's buttons.

"You don't remember?" he said to be taunting Larry. Then, let me remind you..."

Not good on Phoenix's end to be hearing about this matter.

"The defendant's lying, Your Honor!" Winston said to the Judge. "The prosecution would like to call its key witness to the stand."

Once the prosecutor said that for the others to be mumbling quietly, Phoenix didn't think there would be someone witnessing the crime, or did they?

"A witness?" questioned Phoenix.

"(Now we're getting somewhere.)" said Raven.

The Judge hits his gavel to have silence in his courtroom.

"Order! Order in the court!" said the Judge. "Escort the witness to the stand."

Then he shows up 'though we know that he did it', being Frank Sahwit himself as a newspaper salesman to be taking the stand next in making Larry the murder instead of him.

Witness - Frank Sahwit

"Hello." he said with a smile on his face while moving his hands around.

"This is where things get real, Phoenix." Mia said. "Raven, back him up because he's going to need it."

Raven will do so since she has information about Frank on her laptop to gather up.

"Hmmâ€¦| Frank Sahwit, huh? Okay? (How can a person smile like that all day?)"

Phoenix doesn't know if Frank was a real witness to the case at hand or not.

"Please state your name and occupation." Winston said to Frank.

"I am Frank Sahwit." he answers back. "I sell newspaper subscriptions."

"Please tell the court what you saw on the day of the murder." the Judge said.

"Of course."

And here we go with the witness testimony from Frank himself, for Phoenix and Winston to hear it all, along with both Mia and Raven working hard on her end. More like hearing the rest before typing in everything from her great hacking skills.

Witness Testimony

"That day, I was at the apartment complex to sell subscriptions, when I saw a man hurriedly leaving the apartment in question. It was this man, over there." Frank pointed out to Larry.

Not good at all.

"Damn it, Larry..." Phoenix was worrying now. "Why haven't I heard this?"

Continuing on with the testimony...

"I found that quite strange, so I looked inside the apartment. And I saw a woman lying there, dead. I was too scared to go inside. So I rushed to a nearby pay phone, and called the police. It was 2 PM."

2 PM, huh? Raven gets that information down quickly.

"Okay?" she said. "It wasn't a serious one that's for sure."

"Two o'clock..." Phoenix said to himself.

Then the Judge asked something about that story of the phone part...

"A pay phone? Didn't the apartment have a phone?"

Winston explains this part next.

"There was a phone by the front door, but the area had a blackout that day, from 1PM to 6PM, so he couldn't use it."

He then shows a paper about the 'Blackout Notice' for him to show in the courtroom for the Judge to understand it now.

"That does explain using a pay phone."

Frank nodded his head to the Judge meaning a big yes there, but something wasn't right for Phoenix and Raven don't get about the story at all.

"A blackout?" he said.

"How about it, Your Honor?" said Winston. "You could hardly ask for more conclusive witness testimony."

With Frank giving the freaking evil smile like to be looking at Larry, both Phoenix and Raven saw that without anyone else seeing it. Knowing from his true colors, that Larry as set up from a murder he didn't do at all.

"(He is...? No way! He is! He's the killer or right, but we need to find a way to proving that part next.)" said Raven to herself. "But how?"

"What's the matter?" Mia asks Phoenix.

"N-Nothing." he said.

The Judge gets both Winston and Phoenix ready to cross-examine with Frank if they're ready to go.

"The defense may begin its cross-examination."

Phoenix was all ready to go.

"Y-yes, Your Honor!" Phoenix said.

Raven tries her best in aiding Phoenix too.

"Ah, Mia?" she asks Mia.

"I got this, you just keep helping out." she said to turning his attentions to Phoenix next. "Here's your time to shine. If your client is innocent, the witness must have lied in his testimony. Compare the testimony to the evidence. A contradiction is bound to be in there. Find it."

Mia was right about that for Raven to put the pieces together in lending Phoenix a hand.

"A contradiction..." said Phoenix.

"That's right. The evidence holds all the keys. Go get 'em."

Raven knows of this too.

"Come on! It's so easy! I would know a liar in no time. Just do it and if so, I'll lend you a hand." said Raven.

Phoenix knows that Raven was telling the truth.

"Okay, Raven. I'll give it a shot!"

She was surprise to hear Phoenix say her name since they just met.

"(Did he just say my name?)" Raven said to herself.

It was about to begin, but Phoenix had to say this in between to make a little accident.

"Er...Your Honor!" Phoenix speaks up. "Just now, there's was a clear contradiction in thr testimony!"

"Oh? Were, exactly?" the Judge asks him.

As Phoenix was about to 'try' saying something for Frank, Larry, Mia, Winston, and Raven to listen in. But he got nervous to be saying this instead to be rubbing his head and just laughs about it to make a fool out of himself out of nowhere.

"Well, uh...I'm saying we should all put our heads together and find it..."

Raven falls down for the others to laugh on what Phoenix just said. Leaving Mia to stomp on his foot because of that.

"OW!" he said in pain.

"(You got to be kidding me! Well...You can't blame a newbie for trying.)" said Raven.

"What's so funny?" Mia asks Phoenix. "Right now, you need less laughter, more thought."

Mia then hands Phoenix the autopsy papers for him to look at and Raven to take a picture from her laptop real quick to scan into it.

"Ah, y-yeah!" said Phoenix to seeing the papers. "The autopsy report...What is this?"

"Let me see..." Raven sees them too. "Typing it down, now..."

Once both Phoenix and Raven had a look at it carefully, they see some true things on how Cindy was killed as Frank's story was a big fat lie.

"Okay! We got something! With just a few more moves on my end...Shall we, Phoenix?"

Once Raven asks him that question, Phoenix was good to go this time.

"Yes. (All right!)" he said.

The Judge says to starting over for real on the questioning this time.

"Let's try again. The defense may begin its cross examination."

"Here we go!" Raven shouts out to be fully ready for this.

Cross-Examination

Phoenix begins to question Frank next for Winston to go up against him, as Raven started to hack from her laptop to solving the puzzle together...

"(Come on, Raven, think...!)" she was working really hard on her end. "(Larry Butz was dating Cindy Stone who got killed, who's been on trips from Japan to New York from using her passport and a photo proving it. The Autopsy report said that she was killed from a hit to the head really hard from Larry's gifts being the thinker clock when she came back, for Frank thinks he discovered the body in her apartment; only to be scared to go inside the building after seeing a corpse to use a payphone to call the police, for there was a blackout from one to six PM as the death was done around four or five during the time...I just need to put them together on what I got here for Phoenix so far.)"

Phoenix sees how amazing Raven was.

"Amazing...I didn't know she can do that." he was speechless.

"Don't worry, Phoenix," said Mia. "Raven Strides is one of the best hackers ever when it comes to solving murder mysteries. Though illegal, she's allow one some things by the law in doing this, so it's safe for her to do."

She was right, only the law of the court, the cops, detectives, or any lawyer will allow Raven to do this. Once Raven has something type down for Phoenix to look at, here comes the cross-examination with Frank himself to find the lies he was telling about Larry of accusing him. Go! Phoenix and Raven!

"Mr. Sahwit," Phoenix asks Frank a question. "You said you found the body at 2 PM. Are you sure of the time?"

"Absolutely sure." said Frank.

That's not how Phoenix and Raven see it for she tells it like it is.

"The autopsy report. Show the people in the courtroom that, Phoenix! Do it!"

Phoenix already believes in her.

"(Right.)" he said. "But according to the autopsy report, the victim's estimated time of death was someone after 4PM.

Phoenix shows the autopsy report paper to Frank as Raven images it up close on the hologram screen.

"Check it!" she said.

(Autopsy Report

Name: Cindy Stone

Sex: F

Age: 22

Estimated Time of Death: After 4 PM

Cause of Death: Blunt force trauma to the head

Place of Death: Her apartment)

Yep, instead of Frank saying it was around 2 PM, it wasn't. It was really around 4 PM as it said.

"BINGO!" shout out Raven. "We almost have him, just a little further..."

"Isn't this a clear contradiction?" Phoenix corrects Franks.

He's got him there along with Winston and the Judge as well to not know that part, as Mia was happy to see Phoenix and Raven were doing well so far...

"(Brilliantly done, Phoenix and Raven!)"

Now the Judge wishes to learn the real truth out of Frank 'that is if he can'.

"The witness is to explain himself."

Frank started to panic and sweat all over.

"O-Of course..." he said. "In the apartment, I heard the time be announced. She must've been watching TV before she died."

That's not what Phoenix and Raven remember hearing Frank say that from before.

"Oh, that makes sense-"

But Phoenix didn't believe in that part for the prosecutor to go along with it.

"That's not how I see it if there was no power for six hours!" Raven said out loud.

"Huh?" he got confused. "(She might be right...) Wasn't there a blackout at the time?"

"That's right! And here's proof!" said Raven.

She shows the paper of the blackout notice saying it happened from 1 PM-6 PM in between saying 2 PM - 4 PM for Cindy was killed around four. Frank wasn't surprise to learn that part, busted...

"With that as proof, the TV couldn't have been on."

"My apologies, I was mistaken." Frank said in freaking out too. "I heard the clock. The table clock."

Frank pointed out to the murder weapon.

"The table clock?" Phoenix repeated.

Raven checks on it.

"This was Larry's handmade one to being a clock too alright, it tells the time somehow. (Not bad in making one on your own.)"

Mia sees it too.

"That's right!" said Frank. "The Thinker that he used to killer her."

Winston says something next about the clock.

"Your Honor, if I may, this is indeed a clock." said the prosecutor going to the clock itself. "If you twist the neck, it appears to say the time aloud."

Phoenix or Raven didn't know about that being added when Larry made it, so he says out loud with a peace sign.

"Whaddya think of my genius idea?" he said to Phoenix.

"(Mention these things earlier!)" said Phoenix to checking it out himself. "(If you twist the neck, it tells the time?)"

He tries it out for Raven to record it once the head was twisted to tell the time 'from the beginning of the episode here', now they both know of Frank's lies.

"This is going better than I thought. This is fun. Keep it up, Phoenix." she cheers him on while aiding him still.

"Ah, thank you! (Super cute. She's talking to me.)" he said to turning his attentions to Frank next. "Mr. Sahwit! You're lying!"

Shocking to Frank to hear Phoenix say that, for a good reason too...For the same with Winston as the Judge was speechless as Mia listens to the rest on what her student and Raven have to say next.

"In your testimony, you said...'I was too scared to go inside.' You could only know this was a clock if you heard it announce the time." Phoenix said. "That's right. You heard the clock that day. When you entered the apartment, and used it to strike the victim!"

"And once you did you it as a murder weapon, the head twisted to tell the time when you did it." said Raven.

She plays it on what it said to the court room.

"It's two o'clock, I think..." said the clock.

Phoenix says the rest to Frank.

"The sound must have surprised you. And the time was burned into your memory. Am I wrong?"

Frank was freaking out to being speechless on what he should say next.

"How does the witness respond?" the Judge asks him.

"(Okay, I think I get what's going on.)" said Raven.

He's about to break down any time soon...

"I never..." he screams really loud to create powerful wind through his body. "Shut up! Quit yammering and nitpicking! I saw with my own eyes...He was the one who killed her!"

Frank freaks out to be pointing at Larry to soon be catching his breath.

"Rude much...?" questioned Raven.

"Order!" said the Judge to using his gavel. "Watch your mouth, witness. Can the defense prove that the witness heard this clock announce the time?"

With the Judge asking Phoenix that question for Raven to know about it as well.

"W-Well..."

Then Mia says it.

"Simple. Let's sound the clock here and now, in this court."

"I second to that too!" Raven was with Mia on this one.

"Yes." same thing with Phoenix.

With that, Phoenix was about to do it in twisting the clock to tell the time for them for Raven was ready to listen - leaving Winston to freak out too like Frank was as well. Phoenix puts on some gloves, twists the head of the statue-like clock, and it said in the tone it did from the murder with a different timing.

"Hmm...It's 9:25, I think..." said the clock.

After hearing that again for Raven to match with the voice from her laptop, Larry says the same thing since it was his voice from him making it.

"BINGO! We got a match!" she said. "(Man, I am good.)"

"What a Rodin way to announce the time." said the Judge

Then Larry says about his famous invention...

"Isn't it great?! It's my genius voice -"

But the officer pulls Larry back to sitting down to his seat again, for the Judge asks Phoenix this question next.

"I see...But how is this proof of anything?"

Phoenix thinks really hard on this part.

"9:25?" said Phoenix to turning to Winston next. "Prosecutor Payne, what time is it right now?"

So he checks it from his watch.

"Right now? 11:25. What!?"

From there, it surprises even to Winston. Meaning...

"It's two hours slow!" said the Judge.

Raven laughs about it and at Frank for it was right on her work and Phoenix on what they just said.

"Ha! We got you! Tell it like it is, Phoenix!" said Raven.

And so he does...

"Mr. Sahwit's testimony was also two hours off. Which means, what he heard at the time of the murder was most definitely this clock!"

Once Phoenix pointed the murder weapon out and showing to telling all about it for everyone else to hear and Frank to see, he freaks out. As it shocks to even Winston, the Judge, Larry, and Mia about it but Raven to already know. But then...Frank just laughs about it after almost losing his cool to changing the subject about it.

"I'll grant you that's an amusing story..." he said. "Sure, it looks like the clock's two hours slow. But we don't know if it was running slow on the day of the murder!"

Not good on Phoenix or Raven's end there.

"What? You're kidding me!" shock Raven.

"Well? Got an answer for that?!" shouted Frank.

The man yell so loudly, it send Phoenix flying to the floor with the Thinker still in his hands. Like a huge gust storm...From that voice from Frank? Damn. Raven got mad at him for hurting poor Phoenix like that.

"Oh, ha, ha...! SHUT UP!"

Raven screamed so loud to quieting the room and Frank didn't care less or got scared of her.

"What was that?" he mocks Raven. "Trying to scare me that I'll pee? Please! If you, so call lawyer can't that, then you have no case."

With Phoenix getting back up on his feet, Raven started to worry and Mia too.

"Phoenix!" she said.

"Not good...!" Raven freaks out.

What now? The Judge wishes to know too, because if there's no answer to saving Larry, then it's game over.

"How about it, defense?"

Phoenix knows that he can't back down from his first trial in becoming a lawyer a all.

"(You can't back down here.)" he said for Larry's sake. "(Am I going to fail you, after coming so close?)"

He hopes not...After going through so much himself growing up on that day for Larry to stick by his side when he was a kid after the other students accuse him over something he didn't do and the teacher - until another student points his finger out to saying something to defending Phoenix, his friend as well like Larry was in saying this, 'Objection!' you know? Phoenix Wright can't give up now for Raven knows that he can do so much more like she was too, and hurry before the Judge hits the gavel of his. Think...!

"If you don't have any proof, I cannot let you indict this witness."

"I come all this way to testify, and you call me a murder?" Frank said to acting innocent. "You attorneys are all scum!"

Phoenix thinks he was losing his first case.

"(Forgive me, Larry...)" said Phoenix in being upset.

Before it could end for Larry being proven guilty and Raven trying to say something to uncover, the Judge was about to say it...

"This concludes Frank Sahwit's cross examination!"

Just then, Mia speaks up.

"Not so fast!" she said.

With that, the Judge almost drops his gavel to catch in time and surprises everyone else too.

"Mia?" Raven said to her.

"C-Chief?" and Phoenix too.

"Now is the time to laugh, Phoenix and Raven." said Mia. "An attorney can only laugh when times are desperate! Don't give up until the very end."

Raven thought so herself to remember well for her and Phoenix to keep on going.

"She's right! Cindy was on a trip, got a statue that was also a clock had the time but of what on her way back to being killedâ€¦ Think! (I know there's something missing, but what is it...?)"

The Judge then says something next.

"If the defense has something to say, speak up. Well, do you?"

With Frank still standing around and Winston tries to see on what happens next, it was all up to Phoenix and Raven to saving Larry with one powerful proof left to use.

"But there's no way to prove the clock was running slow on the day of the murder." Phoenix said.

Then Mia says this for Raven to hear it as well.

"Turn your thinking about."

"Turn it about?" both Phoenix and Raven said together.

"Yes." she said back. "You two try to figure out why the clock was running two hours slow, in the first place."

"(Two hours slow...)" Raven was thinking hard.

"Two hours slow?" same with Phoenix on his end.

From the difference between 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock...From the blackout notice paper, the clock was two hours slow, the passport, and the photo of Cindy in the U.S.A. of New York City, New York...For those two think really hard before the Judge tries hitting his gavel again to ending it all.

"It seems the defense has nothing to say, after all." said the Judge.

Then Raven figures it all out.

"Wait...Phoenix! From passport of Cindy's on her trip to a different country. Think about it!" she said to him.

Then Phoenix knows what Raven was getting at.

"I see... (She's right!) Two hours!"

The Judge was about to do it.

"This concludes the cross-examination."

All seem like Frank was getting out scout free, until...Phoenix says it.

"OBJECTION!" said Phoenix.

From that powerful win from that defense lawyer and stands to drop the gavel from the Judge's hands in shock, and Frank losing his top wig off of his head.

"The reason the clock was running two hours slow is this...Right here!"

Once Phoenix shows a photo of Cindy in New York for Raven to post it up a bit bigger to showing and tell the rest to everyone in the room.

"GOT YOU NOW!" said Raven.

Frank freaks out.

"Wh-What about that photo?" he ask.

"Remember? She was in New York of the United States from outside of Japan." said Raven "The differences of those two areas, they have way different times off from there to Japan's."

Phoenix tells the rest of it too while also showing the passport of Cindy's next.

"She's right!" said Phoenix. "Japan is in a different time zone than other countries. According to her passport, the victim had jsut returned from overseas the day before the murder. The time difference between Japan and New York is fourteen hours. When it's was 4 PM here, it's 2 AM there. Disregard AM and PM."

Then Mia speaks up.

"And the difference is exactly two hours." she said.

They were almost there for Frank to be losing it for real.

"The victim took the table clock with her on the trip," Phoenix said to the mess up man. "but hasn't reset it since returning. That's why the time you heard was two hours off! How's that for yammering, Mr. Sahwit?"

"Not as clever about that part than your stories were told, huh?" Raven said to Frank.

Then Frank loses all of his hair, foams from the mouth, panics, screams, and passes out.

"NOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO!"

Down he goes! Once the Judge his his gavel to arrest the real murderer for sure.

"Arrest the witness immediately!" he said.

And so they do, what a loser he was to be saying this on his way out to jail.

"No! No! No!" Frank said. "I was so close in getting away with everything if it wasn't for that meddling lawyer and those stupid woman friend of his! I was so close in blaming that man too!"

He's done, as for Raven's detail on how it all happened.

"What really happened? It's easy when you think about itâ€¦!"

Full Story

(As a newspaper salesmen, Frank Sahwit has been burglarizing homes, while residents were away. But the victim returned while he was in her apartment, and that led to the murder. As the clock said wen Frank struck Cindy down of the two hours off time - 'It's two o'clock, I think...')

And with that as Larry will now be proven innocent and Winston losing the case against Phoenix and Raven too for it to be announce by the Judge next.

"Order!" he said. "Mr. Phoenix Wright..."

"Yes, Your Honor." Phoenix answers.

"I am quite honestly amazed. In your first defense, you even discovered the true culprit."

Phoenix felt happy to be hearing that coming from the Judge himself to feel shy about it and smiles.

"Gee, thanks, Your Honor."

"And you, young lady. I never have seen your face before. Who are you?" the Judge asks Raven.

Mia nudges at Raven to stand up and says something.

"Go ahead. Speak up."

"I guess soâ€¦" she said to speak up. "I'm reporter and murderer solver case-like detective Raven Strides, Your Honor."

The Judge was pleased.

"Well, you have done well. Do keep up with that and your stories please. I shall now hand down the verdict. Not guilty!"

NOT GUILTY

With cheers and joy going around the room for Larry was free to go, he was a bit happy to hear but still miss Cindy, but still good that Winston lose.

"Alright!" Raven jumps with joy. "Told you so."

"Aw! Hell no!" angered Winston.

Mia was happy for both Phoenix and Raven did a fine job today.

"Well done, Phoenix. You too Raven." she said to be shaking with Phoenix's hand.

"It was no trouble, Mia, another case closed."

"Thank you, Chief." he said.

"And with that, court is adjourned." said the Judge.

CASE CLOSED

With that, he hits the gavel to call this trial to finally be solved. Phoenix saved his friend Larry to be thanking him 'a bit too much', for Mia and Raven to see this story had a happy ending back a Lobby 2 room.

"You're amazing, Nick!" said Larry with tears of joy.

Phoenix then says this to Raven.

"Raven, it's nice to meet you."

Raven shakes hands with Phoenix while he started to sweat a lot and her wiping her hands clean off after that.

"Nice meeting you too, Phoenix." she said to be confused about Phoenix. "(Is he okay?)"

"I couldn't have done this without your help."

"Just doing my story and solving things really."

Mia then says something to Raven next.

"Not at all, not at all! Raven, you two make a great team together." she said and then to Phoenix. "And you, Phoenix, you fought your own battles in there. It's been a while since I've seen a trial end on such a satisfying note!"

"(I've never seen the chief looking this happy and I thinkâ€¦ Well Raven here, I might be falling for her... So if they're both glad, imagine how Larry must feel!)" he said to himself.

Mia then says something to Larry.

"Congratulations, Harry."

"Um, my name's Larry..." said Larry.

"Could you repeat that, Harry?" Mia said with a smile.

He then turns happy to the ladies only.

"Never mind, er, well...Thank you so much! I'll never forget this." he then talks to Raven. "Thank you as well, silver hair cutie."

Raven already didn't like Larry in being a pervert and all.

"Silver hair cutie?" she said.

"Okay? How about Raven-poo instead?"

Raven ignores Larry.

"Forget it."

Phoenix corrects Larry for thanking Mia more than his friend.

"Dude, I was the one who saved you." said Phoenix.

"We both did!" same with Raven.

Larry then says something.

"Oh, right! Please accept this!"

He gives Mia another Thinker clock that he made like he did for Cindy.

"Wait, isn't this the murder weapon?" Mia asks Larry.

Not really for this other one for Larry to explain.

"Oh, no...It's the same thing, but it's not. I made two of them, and this one's mine."

Mia gets it now.

"Ah."

"Please accept it as a memento of our meeting!" said Larry.

So she takes it to be nice to Larry.

"Then, I guess I'll take you up on it. Thank you."

"(Ladies man...)" Raven said to herself.

Larry started to cry for missing Cindy so much next to Phoenix.

"I loved her, man. How could she betray me like that? I'm so sad!"

"Larry..." said Phoenix.

Mia didn't think so on her end to cheer Larry up.

"I wouldn't be so certain." she said to getting his, Raven, and Phoenix's attention. "She loved you. And here's the proof."

She shows him the Thinker statue-like clock.

"Lies!" Larry said to still be crying near Phoenix's side.
"Nick!"

Then he says this...

"Oh, yeah. She took that clock with her on the trip, didn't she?"

Larry then stops to think of something made up to say.

"She probably just didn't have any others." he said.

"You really think she'd take something so bulky, just because of that?" Phoenix said.

"He's right, Larry." said Raven to showing Larry a photos of Cindy.
"Remember what Cindy was holding during her trip?"

He remembers for Cindy was thinking about Larry after all, she did loved him very much. Larry was able to smile again after that.

"I guess not." he said to saying something to Phoenix. "Thanks, man."

And for that, it soon gets dark out later on for the trial to come to a close and others walking back home in the city of Japan all over the streets. As well as Raven emailing her story to her work place

'for Bobby to get it just in time' after that to walking out with both Mia and Phoenix to grow a liking to them already.

"What a day...But it was fun." she said.

"It sure was." Mia said. "And Phoenix, today got a bit exciting, but you finally took your first step."

"Yeah, it was really scary, though." said Phoenix.

Then Mia stops to tell this to Phoenix and Raven too as a reminder to them.

"But still...It was an important step you took to help someone."

"Tell me about it. (Phoenix Wright, a new Defense Lawyer Attorney. He sure is something else...)" Raven said.

As the three looked at the night sky of the city view from the stairs to know what path they must take from today's crimes against the innocent people.

"Listen well, Phoenix Wright. And Raven, please keep this in mind too." Mia speaks up. "In our massive society, there must be plenty of people out there who need your help. Both of you really. So do your best."

"I will!" said Phoenix.

"Me too! I will take this path from my old job, just you watch me starting tomorrow! Yeah!" Raven said with joy. "(Bobby's going to get the last scoop from me after today...)"

Mia remembers Phoenix saying something on why he became a lawyer besides defending Larry today, there was more?

"Oh, right...The reason you became an attorney?" she ask.

"I owe it all to him." Phoenix said.

"Huh?" Raven was confused.

"Tell me and Raven the whole story sometime then."

Phoenix will try to remember that for Mia.

"Sure thing!" he said to remembering something else. "I forgot my bike at the courthouse!"

Raven's face was like 'really?' when Phoenix said that for Mia sees him sometimes forgetting a thing or two, rarely.

"Oh, dear..." said Mia.

"See you later!" Phoenix leaves to saying his good-byes. "Raven, let's hang out together sometimes!"

"Okay...! Safe trip back, I guess." she said waving.

As Phoenix rushes back to the courthouse to get his bike in time to riding it back to his place, both Mia and Raven walk back together to where they live at.

"Shall we, Raven?" said Mia.

"Right." Raven said to her.

Phoenix says the rest of his story on the path he'll soon be taking in the future and seeing Raven a lot for now on.

"(And so, my first trial came to a close. But my promise to tell the Chief about my reason for becoming an attorney and the lovely Raven to tell her on how I felt about her too, was a promise I wouldn't be able to keep.)"

What did Phoenix meant by that...? Well, at Mia' office that Phoenix's work at called 'Fey & Co. Law Offices' for one night was the night for Phoenix and Raven thought that they would meet with Mia to go out to eat, her life soon came to a end. In other words, someone murders her in her own office with the same murder weapon the Thinker which also killed Cindy Stone with, was used again to make the room a complete mess. She's dead!? What!? Well, that has to wait until the next episode to soon come...

You guys like this? Better than the other game version? Well, I'll try posting these chapters once a week after watching a new episode from it, okay? Give me your thoughts. Besides the Headless Horseman special that I made and other ones to come later on, again which do you guys want...? Both versions., the other one, or this one. Be nice and understanding about it please. :) This is fun!

If you all thought the first episode/chapter was good, wait until you read this next one...As Phoenix tells about his story so far about his life and such since he won his first case in becoming a defense attorney lawyer.

("I'm Phoenix Wright. While I somehow proved my client's innocence in my first trial, I'm still a highly inexperienced rookie attorney. But I'll do my best to help those who have no one on their side! As the Chief being Mia Fey as one of the best lawyers to aid me and Raven Strides, the most beautiful woman who I ever laid lies on, I cannot lose.")

One night, Raven manages to flee her old work to be quitting and her old apartment to moving her things to a storage area for now 'from a certain friend of her to go into the truck', and flees before Bobby goes after her, on what? Why was he being so rude to that poor girl? Lucky for Raven, she was smart to call up Mia for help in doing so to go work for her and Phoenix right away to hiding throughout the night at the hotel until the next morning...Speaking of which it was with Mia herself calling up a certain someone on her phone.

"Hello? This is Maya."

Mia's little sister who was living on her own from a certain area they were born in together named Maya Fey. They talk on the phone like they do every day.

"Hello, it's me." said Mia.

"Oh, Mia!" said Maya. "What's up? You haven't called in a while."

As there was a sign at some building posting Bluecorp., pay attention to that for later on. Okay? Anyways, Mia was calling her sister from her working place.

Time: April 3, 9:27 AM

Location: Fey & Co. Law Offices

"Sorry, I've been so busy lately. How have you been?"

Maya was talking to Mia from her new apartment to be living in on her own.

"Lonely...And it's your fault for leaving your beloved little sister alone!" said Maya to play around with her older sister. "Just teasing! I'm good. I've gotten used to having my own place."

"Oh? I'm glad. Actually, I'm calling because I have a favor to ask."

As if Maya already knows what it was to aiding Mia on this special favor.

"I know! You want me to hold evidence for you again?"

"Indeed." said Mia. "The case I'm working on will be big. I'm uncomfortable keeping the evidence here until trial."

"So, what is it this time?" Maya asked.

"A table clock."

Mia looks at the thinker being a statue and a clock that was sitting on her table at work.

"Clock?" Maya was confused.

"Yes, it's made to resemble the statue The Thinker. And it tells you the time! You've always liked toys, right?"

Now Mia was teasing her sister.

"Hey...I'm not a little girl anymore, Sis!"

Mia laughs.

"Oh, but at the moment, the clock doesn't talk. I had to remove the clockwork. I put some papers inside instead."

Maya could take a while guess on what was inside of it.

"Is that the evidence, then?" ask Maya.

"Sharp as always. These are important, so keep them safe." Mia said to her sister.

"The Thinker, eh? Smart thinking, Miss Fey." said some stranger.

Yep. Unaware for those two girls, that someone in a dark room of some other building was listening in. Tapping into their phone calls. That couldn't be good. Whoever he was, his smiles shines a bit too much from his teeth...Hours later, Raen arrives to Mia's office for Phoenix was on his helping her out to hear something going on outside for Bobby has found her and wasn't happy at all.

"You...!" angered Bobby.

He grabs hold of Raven by the hair to yank her closes to him by force for Phoenix and Mia to be seeing this from the window of their office.

"(Raven?)" surprised Phoenix. "Chief! Raven's in trouble!"

"Not him again!"

"Wait, you know that guy!?"

The two rush quickly outside to aid Raven for she tries fighting back to get away from Bobby.

"Stop! Let go of me!" cried out Raven.

"What gives, Raven? Quitting from me! I never said you could!" he said.

Raven stayed strong against her ex-boss.

"I have a new job to work at now than with you!"

Bobby looked at the building to see where at.

"What's that? How dare you after all I did for you, Raven! Come here-!"

Bobby goes over to Raven to be hitting her in the face to fall down. In pain to being pulled back up by force from Bobby's strong grasp, for she kicks him away from her to let go in time for this girl can fight really well as Mia and Phoenix arrive for the rookie stops Bobby in time.

"Stop!" he demanded at Bobby.

Phoenix runs up to defend Raven from more beating from her boss in time.

"Phoenix?" both Mia and Raven said to be surprised.

"It's you, the lawyer and you boss Ms. Fey. We're just about to leaveâ€¦!"

Raven yells back all shaken up but tries to be brave.

"I'm not going!" she shouted to throwing her working badge at Bobby. "Keep this as a reminder that you suck. I'm sick of your crap, so no more from you! I quit."

"I believe I need to ask you to leave Ms. Strides alone before I call the cops, Mr. Poster. And I do mean right away...If you be so kind." Mia order Bobby.

Bobby takes all of Raven's things and leaves on the streets, for she had everything else she needed at the storage and suitcase than she did at her old job to be nothing more than a memory to her.

"Fine! Be like this! I'm glad! I was about to fire you today anyways! You just made my day! Your loss!"

Bobby leaves and Raven was happy to be free from Bobby's being abusing no more, though she lost her job for a good caused. Being hurt for so long but now freed, leaving Phoenix wanting to know was why.

"Good ahead, Phoenix, see that she's treated to come get set in my office." said Mia. "You did the right thing, Raven."

"(Mia...)" Raven was speechless.

Mia pats Raven on the head to be happy that she was going to work for her and Phoenix, also to move out somewhere better, but where at?

"Right-!" Phoenix said to check on Raven next. "Raven, you okay? That old boss of yours a jerk."

Phoenix helps Raven back up on her feet to see the other horrible bruises left on her arm all over for more abuse beating she had so much, by using a wet face cloth and a dry one to clean her up gently.

"Ravenâ€¦ He did this to you?" he ask her.

Raven hides it from Phoenix.

"Don't touch me!" she snaps.

Though Raven didn't mean to say that to Phoenix.

"Sorry. I'm glad you quit, you can work for Mia and me. You don't need a place with him around, you know?"

That made Raven happy to hear.

"Really? Well, Mia did say thatâ€¦"

Phoenix offers Raven his hand to help her up to the office to finish up in the bathroom.

"(Poor girl, she's in pain...I'll do anything to help her no matter what.)" Phoenix said to himself. "Come on, Raven, let's fix you back up."

Raven then smiles for she's starting a new life now.

"Okay then." she said with happiness within her.

Looks like this will be the beginning of Raven Strides' new life about to shine...She tells the whole story about her parents, Bobby treating her badly, what her real goal she wishes to do, and what she did after calling Mia up to quitting and moving out to finding a place next. Understanding this problem both she and Phoenix will do her best to get her a place to live with her things being transfer, along with working with them. Good enough for her. As she gives her biggest thanks to Mia on everything, she finishes in the bathroom to move in somewhere 'that was already being set up now' for Mia to tell Phoenix about Maya after the problem was solved so far for one person.

"Huh? You have a little sister?" Phoenix asks Mia.

"I hadn't mention that?" she said.

"No...This is the first I've heard of it. (I don't think Raven knows of this either.)"

"She's coming to the office tonight to see me. Why don't you and Raven join us for dinner?"

Raven gets out of the bathroom to say this to Mia.

"I'm in! It's cool you have a little sister!" said Raven.

"Really?" said Phoenix.

"Of course. Then, let's meet up here at 9 PM. Go take care of Raven first and I'll see you two then."

Phoenix was happy to be seeing Mia's sister tonight and Raven too.

"Got it!" he said. "I'll see you later!"

Mia smiles at Raven before leaving with Phoenix.

"See you tonight, Raven, and does Phoenix here have a surprise for you..."

"For me?" she was confused.

Once Phoenix and Raven leave the building, he takes her to his place to show her the apartment that he lives in for she'll be living with Phoenix Wright - surprise from Mia to be made thanks to her 'making him very happy to have Raven to moving in', someone has a crush on her.

"This is where I'll be living in?" Raven asks Phoenix.

"It's my place...It was Mia's idea. (Please, please, say yes.)"

Raven liked it from the outside and inside of the place.

"Wow...Looks nice. You sure?"

"I got enough room for you to sleep in, so bring your things..." he said to be really happy about this.

Raven then laughs to be saying this next.

"You're sweet...Okay, I'll start packing. Thank you, Phoenix."

"I'll help you out." he then says this quietly. "Thank you...!"

Aw, cute isn't it? Elsewhere in the court room during the same day - another prosecutor lawyer was winning the case of a murder crime to being solve with real or false evidences to be shown done by one man, that someone that Phoenix might known of too well. He was also famous from good to some people hating him a lot...

"And with that, the prosecution rests its case." he said to be bowing down.

The Judge hits his gavel to give the verdict.

"I shall now hand down the verdict. Guilty!"

With that, someone who was bad 'or might have been' will be put away in jail for good for the other defense lawyer had loss to 'him'.

"Why wasn't I informed about that evidences?!" argued the defense lawyer.

He was known as Miles Edgeworth himself who never loss a case to this once to be pointing out to that person.

"Reflect on your own incompetence before criticizing my methods."

It even says so in the newspapers all over for Phoenix and Raven to be reading about it even from the laptop internet too.

"Hmm...Genius Prosecutor Win Again! Dark Rumors Follow Victory, from Miles Edgeworth, huh?" she said. "Who's that?"

It also said on both in the newspaper and on the laptop about Phoenix saying, 'Rookie Attorney Takes Plaudits'. With Phoenix reading these things, he could only say this.

"(Talk about night and day...)"

Many hours later, day turns into night time. Looks like all that packing for Raven to moving in 'with Phoenix helping her out', took them longer to finish up then they thought to run late. Well, Raven reminds him to get to the office to meet up with both Mia and Maya to go out to eat. For Raven leads Phoenix the way to run really fast.

"Come on, Phoenix!" said Raven.

He looks at his watch to be a few minutes late.

"I'm late!" Phoenix panics. "Raven! Wait up!"

Finally the two made it inside of the building of Fey and Co. Offices.

Time: April 3, 9:08 PM

Once Phoenix and Raven got inside, they see the lights on from one room, but no sign of Maya and Mia anywhere. They check in the other room being dark with no lights on.

"Hello?" Raven calls out to Mia. "Mia, we're here. Sorry we're late. You here? Your sister? Anything, Phoenix?"

He takes a peek in the other room.

"Don't know... Not here yet?" he checks out the other room. "I'm back!"

Before Phoenix could turn the lights on, he stops to find and his foot was near lots of glass pieces all over the place. But that's not all, lots of other things were all over the place to making a huge mess all over. Raven then sees it too.

"What the...? What happen?" she wonders.

The two had a look around to see what went down. And what both Phoenix and Raven just discovered was very shocking, for Mia's body was found lying on the floor and not moving at all. Meaning that she was killed from all the mess left out - this was really bad here.

"Ch-Chief?" Phoenix tries calling out to Mia.

"Mia? Hey, Mia? Are you alright?" Raven checks on her.

Raven didn't felt a pause coming from Mia's body, this was bad for them to see.

"Chief!"

"Mia!"

Phoenix couldn't believe his eyes either as Raven was horrified to soon be hearing a noise nearby, someone was also here being Maya herself looking very upset too in seeing her sister was found murder.

"Phoenix!" Raven said.

"Who's there?" Phoenix demanded to know.

Maya was really crying for she got there after Mia was found killed before Phoenix and Raven arrived.

"(Wait...Isn't that...?)" Raven wondered.

"Y-You're..."

Phoenix tries calming Maya for Raven tries reaching out to her.

"Oh, it's okay. We work here."

Maya then gets up to rush to her sister's side.

"Sis!" Maya said in sadness. "Sis! Sis..."

"(I was right, this is Maya Fey. Mia's sister.)" said Raven, she got that part right.

"So you're the chief's..."

Phoenix then hears someone coming in the office for Raven and Maya to see it too, being the police and a detective for someone called up from across another building. One detective shows the handcuffs to surround the place, to being the scene of a crime now. Raven knows who he was.

"No! Not him again." she said.

"Freeze! This is the police!" said the detective. "Crime scene secured, pal! Oh. If it isn't Raven Strides herself."

Phoenix didn't know that Raven knew one of the police members.

"You know this guy?" asked Phoenix.

More than Phoenix or Mia would know from Raven...

"Afraid so. That's detective Gumshoe. Annoying and weird, but he's a cop after all. I just call him 'Mr. Detective'."

"Really?"

Yep, he calls Raven 'kid' and she calls him 'Mr. Detective'. Lots of cops were on stand by in the building to gather clues, ask question to the three, and see what happened tonight. For Detective Dick Gumshoe introduces himself to both Phoenix and Maya since Raven already knows of him. They're like partner in some terms to really care for each other like family.

District Police Detective - Dick Gumshoe

"Any who, I do know her. As I'm Detective Dick Gumshoe, pal." he said. "Look, Kid, save your report detectives to the real professionals like me."

Raven didn't sound too happy when Gumshoe said that to her.

"But this is my thing!" said Raven.

"Sure it is. Look we received a report from the building across the way, see. Got a person saying they saw a murder."

"(Who did call them? I hope it wasn't Bobby...)"

Then one of the officers tells Gumshoe something very important.

"Excuse me. Look at this."

Once Gumshoe puts on a pair of gloves to see from the crime scene on what was on the floor, a piece of paper.

"This is a receipt." he said.

Phoenix and Raven walk over to have a closer look at it. Saying, 'Receipt, April 2, Antique glass light stand'. Something that Mia bought in her office since yesterday. Then when Gumshoe turns over the paper it had something written in blood saying 'Maya' in big words.

"Is that something written in blood...?" questioned Raven.

"Maya? Sure looks like it, kid." said Gumshoe to asking Phoenix something. "This mean anything to you, pal?"

"N-No." he answered.

Then Maya speaks up.

"Th-That's my name..."

Gumshoe gets up to ask Maya a question for Phoenix and Raven to hear her name.

"What's your name?" Gumshoe asks her.

"Maya Fey." she answers to being upset still.

"(Maya...)" both Phoenix and Raven said.

Soon this was really bad because Gumshoe just arrests Maya on a crime she didn't commit, not good at all.

"Case closed!" he said to grab Maya's arm. "You're coming down to the station!"

Raven tries stopping Gumshoe.

"Stop!"

But he stops her in time.

"Don't try. You interfere; you'll be charge with getting in our way. Sorry, I have to do this, it's my job."

This made Raven upset here for Phoenix tries saying something to Gumshoe before doing anything.

"W-Wait a second!" said Phoenix.

"Both of you are coming too for some questioning. The kid and you too, pal, to the station."

Phoenix holds Raven's hand to tell her not to be scared of anything that was about to come next, for them to being questioned for a while and Maya being arrested over something that she didn't do With the office being under police's eyes for lots of news reporters outside, and Maya taken into a car of the Metropolitan Police Department' leaving the other two in a different car to enter soon to be driving off. Though Phoenix and Raven told their stories about getting their to see Mia dead in her office to meet with her for dinner around nine and finding Maya there, they were free to go after that for Raven to sleep well in her new place with Phoenix afterwards...But Maya, she stayed to be questioned further until she could find a lawyer to defend her in time. Though Gumshoe was doing his job, this was bad for Maya Fey to be in a mess like this, the two get up to talk to Maya at the prison center; as Phoenix got up before Raven did to turning on the TV to talk about the death of Mia Fey this morning.

"(Mia's dead, Maya's stuck of something that she didn't do, and what can we do now?)" she said while thinking.

The two listen in on the TV news.

[This was the scene of the crime. Last night, the chief of Fey & Co. Law Offices, Ms. Mia Fey, was murdered!]

(Beautiful Attorney Murdered, Mia Fey, Age 27.)

Still to hard for those two to believe in, Mia was really dead out of nowhere for this to happen. Upsetting to Phoenix, even to Raven to helped her out so much, and Maya was even upset more and more to cry over her loss.

"Chief..." Phoenix said to feeling upset about.

Remembering the times Mia worked with Phoenix. Flashback...

"I mean, it's my beloved subordinate's first ever defense. I wouldn't miss it in the world."

"Well done, Wright."

End of flashback...Going back to the reporter saying the rest of the details on TV.

[Police suspect the beautiful attorney's own sister murdered her. Currently, she's being held in custody.]

With Phoenix hitting his hand on the table in anger he was in because of this, also for Maya to be held up in jail and was crying a lot as Raven was feeling very sad too...It was hard not to think about Mia lying dead in front of the two from last night. It was hard. So for that Phoenix rides his bike to talk to Maya to know that she was innocent alright, for Raven tags along to in holding on from behind the bike.

"(Those tears weren't fake.)" he said.

"Hey, Phoenix. Can I ride with you?" Raven asked.

Phoenix had trouble speaking up.

"Oh! Raven! (This is your chance, Wright! Say it!)"

Raven looks at Phoenix for he was acting strange to her again.

"Ah, Phoenix?"

"Ah, yes! Raven! Would you like to be my? (Spit it out already!)"

Before Phoenix could say it, Raven says something first thinking it was something different from yesterday.

"Look, Phoenix. I get it, about Bobby that I quit and was happy to be working for you and all the crap he did to me! Well, I can't tell you right now but I can say is this."

"Say what?" he was lost.

"Thanks for sticking up for me." she said with a smile.

"Oh! Anytime really. Glad you're helping me out for now on."

"Yeah, it's what Mia would've wanted me to do."

"Yeah! Anyways, Raven-!"

But Raven says something instead.

"I'm worried about Maya, Phoenix, let's do our best. To the detention center."

Phoenix had to go to work but just misses his chance to tell Raven how he feels about her.

"Right. (I almost had it that timeâ€¦)"

Off to the detention center they go on Phoenix's bike to ride with Raven tagging along, at least he like her holding him from the back side.

Time: April 4, 9:07 AM

Location: Detention Center - Visitor's Room

Phoenix and Raven try to look their best in questioning Maya on what her story was. With the poor girl coming into the other room to blocking one side from them, she then sits down to them seeing her dressing up a bit different in some maiden outfit from the old times of Japan...

"(Now that I get a good look at her, her outfit's rather strange.)" said Phoenix to talking to Maya. "Um..."

Maya then says something to Phoenix and Raven.

"Oh! It's you two! The lawyer and his partner... G-good morning." said Maya.

Raven introduces herself and Phoenix to Maya.

"Hey, Maya. We're here for you." Raven introduces herself. "I'm Raven Strides by the way, a hacking of a murder mystery solver for Phoenix Wright, the defense attorney lawyer."

Maya was happy to hear that Mia had other people working for her.

"Hi, Raven." she said to her.

"You've had a rough night, huh?" ask Phoenix. "Have you contacted your family?"

Sadly, Maya or Mia don't have a father anymore to having their mother go missing.

"My mother and father are both gone." said Maya.

"So sorry to hear that." Raven felt bad for her there losing her family like she is, a little.

That...There's a lot more going on with Raven Strides, huh? As Phoenix continues asking Maya other questions.

"Last night, you came to see Mia at the office, right?"

"She ask me to come."

"(Mia ask us to come with them for dinner...)" Raven said.

Yep, Mia did invited both Phoenix and Raven to go out to dinner with her and Maya from yesterday night.

"I see." Phoenix said.

"She wanted me to hold on to some evidence for an upcoming trial."

This was big news to the two.

"Evidence?"

"That clock that's shaped like The Thinker." Maya said.

Both Phoenix and Raven remembers that Larry gave Mia another one that he made for her from his first trial.

"You're kidding me!" surprised Raven.

"(The one Larry made!)" same with Phoenix.

"I'm pretty sure our conversation is on my cell phone."

This could be important for them to hear from Maya's cell phone right away.

"On your cell phone?" Raven questions Maya.

"Let's hear it!" said Phoenix.

One problem with that part...

"But I dropped it somewhere..."

Figures for Phoenix and Raven to be hearing that.

"Of course." they both said.

Maya felt bad as it already was happening to her and to them.

"I'm so sorry!"

Then Phoenix had to ask Maya this question.

"By the way, what's with that bizarre-" Raven hits Phoenix's arm a little to correct his question. "I mean, interesting outfit?"

"Is it Halloween already?" Raven took a wild guess on that one.

"I don't think people would dress up like that all the time."

So Maya tells them on what she was wearing.

"I-I'm not strange, really!" she said. "I'm a spirit medium. In training..."

Surprise there for those two to hear.

"S-Spirit medium?" surprised Phoenix but still find it odd. "(I'm pretty sure that qualifies as strange.)"

"And I thought that was only in movies." said Raven

So what was Maya being a Spirit Medium in training since she was Mia's little sister?

"I'm still in training," she explains. "but the Fey family has always been sensitive to the spriti world. Especially the women."

That explains the weird looking necklace that Maya had on her, the same thing with Mia too.

"So Mia was into this stuff too?" Phoenix ask.

"Yes. Her powers were seriously out of this world!"

Raven never knew of it until today.

"That's something else, I guess..."

Phoenix however, he had sort of a hard time believing in all of this.

"I had no idea..." Phoenix said to try saying this to Maya. "Wait, can't you ask Mia's spirit who killed her?"

Sadly, Maya couldn't do it yet.

"Oh, no...I'm still in training!" she said.

"In training?"

"Well, this sucks..." said Raven.

"I couldn't do do something as amazing as contacting a spirit..."

Bad as it was and sounded, it wasn't so easy to do for beginners like Maya was.

"(I guess it wouldn't be that easy, huh?)"

Maya then asks Phoenix and Raven a question.

"By the way, Mr. Lawyer...Raven...Could I ask you two a favor?"

"What kind of favor?" Raven asks Maya.

"Um, could you contact a lawyer named Grossberg for me?"

"Grossberg?" Phoenix said.

Who was this Grossberg person...?

"My sister said said if I were ever in trouble, I should call him."

But Phoenix could defense Maya and Raven to help him solve the case too.

"Why not Phoenix?" said Raven.

"She's right you know, I'm a defense attorney, too."

To Maya was a bit different after from last night kind of.

"But...You'll never believe me. Maybe to Raven, but the way you looked at me..."

"Why do you think so?" he ask.

"Your eyes back then."

Yeah, he didn't mean too. Phoenix was just surprise when he and Raven spotted Maya hiding in the corner and sad after seeing Mia's body lying dead from last night. That's Maya wanted Grossberg instead.

"(Way to make a mistake there, Phoenix.)" Raven said quietly.

"You looked at me like I'd done it." she said.

Phoenix now knows why to feel really bad after that.

"No, I never thought..."

Maya just nodded.

"It's okay."

So much for that, poor Phoenix.

"I understand." he said to helping out Maya still. "All right. Grossberg the lawyer, right? I'll go ask him for you."

"Me too!" Raven said to joining with Phoenix.

And off to Grossberg's place the two went to and then go back to tell Maya about it. Another defense lawyer, huh? And who trained Mia to looking out for Maya too I see...

Time: April 3

Location: Grossberg Law Offices

Once both Phoenix and Raven went inside of the building of the office where this man calling himself Marvin Grossberg works to being really good at his job to defending people 'and a very nice painting on the wall too', he was pleased of hearing Phoenix who was a student to Mia to hear about.

"Ah, my boy...So you worked under Mia. And you, my dear started working for her too. Well done. Following your own dreams to in solving crimes." he said. "She was my student after all. Still, it's a real shame what happened to her. Don't you think so, son?"

Grossberg Law Offices - Chief - Marvin Grossberg

"It was sad, I already miss Mia." Raven said to Marvin.

"Um, well..." said Phoenix to try telling him something. "I'd like to ask you to defend Maya, her sister."

Marvin knows of Maya as well.

"Mia told me about her. Asked me to look after her if she ever were in trouble."

"Then..."

"Will you?"

Both Phoenix and Raven asked Marvin, from the look on his face, he was willing to do anything for the Fey sisters alright.

"Of course I'll defend her!" he said. "If I, Marvin Grossberg, do not take the case, who will, my boy? And young lady?"

That was good news there, for Phoenix and Raven bow down to Marvin to say their thanks to him.

"Thank you so much!" said Phoenix.

"Yeah, you're a real life saver." same thing with Raven. "We better get going then. See ya."

The two leave the building for Marvin was more than happy to help them and Maya out for sure.

"Goodbye, then."

All was good there, until that changes on to poor Marvin when a certain someone that he knows of 'being really bad' calls him up on the phone once Phoenix and Raven left.

"Hello? This is Grossberg." he answers.

"Long time, no talk...Mr. Lawyer." said the stranger.

From Marvin's reaction in hearing this person, it didn't sound good at all. As well as that freak be smiling from greedy again...So it was night time already for Raven was getting use to living with Phoenix in his nice looking apartment to set everything up with her things and sleeping on the couch, she didn't mind since Phoenix had a bed in his room to sleep in. From setting in, grocery shopping afterwards, and now resting to hopefully have Marvin to be defending for Maya in a few days in the up coming trial.

"Tired?" Raven asks Phoenix.

"Tell me about it." he answers to sit on his bed next.

"I don't blame you there. We did all that we could do for Maya, now we just wait and see."

Raven sits next to Phoenix on his bed as he was lying down.

"(Wow...! She sitting right next to me!)"

Tries reaching his hand out to Raven's, she tells Phoenix something to make him stop.

"Phoenix, again thanks for letting me stay here." she said with a smile.

"It...It was nothing really...! I do anything for you..."

"Huh?" she was confused.

"Nothing!" he panics.

"It's all good."

Phoenix had trouble saying his feelings towards Raven, but at least she had her hand on his to hold for her to be doing that instead. For Phoenix was happy to get Marvin to helping them out.

"Thank you... (I'm glad he agreed to defend her.) This is for the best, really."

With Phoenix staring at the ceiling of his room, having his other hand on his badge, and hopes for the best in defending Maya as well as Raven hopes for the same thing too...There was one big building where the prosecutor lawyers work at for that someone to be there for Edgeworth had his own office in room 1202; from a fancy set up, big window, loves his tea, a trophy of some kind, nice flowers with some model figure on stands, a desk, chess board lots of books, his old jacket on the wall, and computer work - he has it all to look like a rich person. Edgeworth looks at the file on the case he'll be up against to knowing Mia of her profile to have.

(Case file...

Name: Mia Fey

Sex: F

Age: 27

Estimated Time of Death: April 3, after 8 Pm

Cause of Death: Blunt force trauma to the head)

Well, it would seems that Edgeworth knew about Mia a while back. Seeing that her sister might have killed her or not, he still will win the case. Surprise that he was up against a certain someone real soon...The next morning, Phoenix and Raven went back to the Fey & Co. Law Offices to find Maya's cell phone to listen and and for her to hear Mia's voice again. Being the scene of the crime and close for the time being, they still had to help out Marvin in this murder case was alright to do.

"We better start looking around for Maya's phone, Phoenix." Raven said. "Phoenix? Phoenix-! Oh... (God, people like Mia, being so young shouldn't die like that.)"

She sees him standing at the spot where Mia was found murder the other night. With everything looking normal again the office, it wasn't the same with Mia Fey around anymore.

"(I still can't believe it.)" said Phoenix. "(Chief...)"

A flashback where Phoenix sees the plant that Mia took care of every day for Raven to remember seeing it a lot when she work with her...

"Here's your dinner, Charley." she said while watering her plant.

When Phoenix went up to Mia once to be happy to be laughing in seeing her doing that almost every single day.

"What's so funny?" she ask.

"But it's just so strange..." said Phoenix. "Calling a potted plant 'Charley'."

"Really? 'Phoenix Wright' is a far stranger name, if you ask me."

Mia was being funny again...

"That's not the point."

End of flashback after that...For Phoenix misses those time. Speaking of the plant name Charley...Raven found some thing sticking out from it.

"Phoenix, look." she said. "This must be Maya's cellphone, in the plant."

"Is this..." he said to checking on it.

Raven and Phoenix play the message call on Maya's phone to hear her and Mia talking.

"Then, the office tonight. Say 9:00 PM?" Mia asks Maya.

"Okay, but I except dinner! Something good!" Maya said. "Like burgers! I could really go for a good burger!"

After hearing the call 'and Raven hacking it to her computer'...

"Raven?" Phoenix asks her something.

"It's cool, I can hack into things as long as it's not a terrorist threat. As if I'll be like that." she then laughs.

"I see... (Good, she's careful and skillful on what she does.)"

That's when Gumshoe then enters in the room to seeing the two.

"Oh! It's you, kid. And aren't you, um..." said the detective.

Phoenix introduces himself to Gumshoe.

"Phoenix Wright, an attorney."

Gumshoe remembers Phoenix from the other night.

"Oh, right! You've got an odd name, pal. And kid, you're staying out of trouble?" he asks Raven.

"Like I would ever cause trouble."

Phoenix still finds Gumshoe's name to be weirder than his or Mia's plant.

"(Like you're the one to talk, Suedeshoes.)" Phoenix said to himself

Gumshoe then sees Phoenix holding on to Maya's cellphone, he thought it belong to him. Too late for him to hide it of embarrassment.

"That's not-!"

Raven then stops for she had an idea to get some answers out of Gumshoe.

"Girly phone for a girly guy instead of the kid's, huh? Perfect fit." Gumshoe said to Phoenix.

"No one's ever called me 'girly' before...So, have you figured anything out?"

Phoenix and Raven had to know something, a chance for her to fool with the detective thinking that he won't tell them anything - but he will.

"Sorry, pal, but I don't got no info to give to attorney!"

"(But I'm not defending her.)"

Raven winks to Phoenix that she'll get Gumshoe to talk.

"(Phoenix, leave it to me. I know how to get Gumshoe to spill the beans for us without even knowing about it.)" she said in a code for Phoenix to understand.

Phoenix was getting the message from Raven so far.

"(Is she...? I think Raven's telling me something about Gumshoe...On what/ Getting some answers?)" he said.

Raven acts cool and calm to Gumshoe to play along as her plan, for Phoenix to soon find out how it goes.

"Well, Mr. Detective, as always being the cool and calm hard working person you claim to be."

"Damn straight, kid." said Gumshoe. "Well, there's one thing I can say for sure. There's no way you're winning tomorrow's trial, pal."

"Wh-Why do you say that?" Phoenix asks him.

"They've put Mr. Edgeworth on the prosecution."

Once Gumshoe said Edgeworth's name, Phoenix's eyes grew wider all of a sudden to know that man.

"Edgeworth?"

"Who's Edgeworth?" Raven ask.

"Looks like even you two have heard of him..." said Gumshoe.

Knowing Raven to see the look into Phoenix's eyes, he knows of Edgeworth by heart.

"(Of course I have.)" said Phoenix.

Toughest prosecutor lawyers of an attorney ever who never loses a case to get the people to be guilty at all times, one of the best of the best for others to hate him for some of them do. All teach very well from his teacher calling himself Manfred von Karma. Who was that person, another prosecutor too?

"OBJECTION!" shouted Edgeworth.

Phoenix explains who Miles Edgeworth was...

"(Miles Edgeworth...He has never lost a case since he became prosecutor at the incredibly young age of twenty. A machine who will do anything for a 'guilty' verdict, he's an unprecedented genius prosecutor.)"

Raven also looked it up more about Edgeworth being the best of the best alright.

"Wow! He's way too good!" said Raven.

Gumshoe does prove a good point to be working for Edgeworth himself too.

"So give up, go home, and cry into your pillow, pal." said the detective. "And you, kid, you want to still solve this case...Go ahead in try to."

"As if I would ever give up." she said back to him.

Phoenix then 'tries' asking Gumshoe this next question.

"By the way, Detective Gumshoe, what about the witness from last night?"

True, someone did call him and the other cops from across the building to where they were.

"That's right... (It was a woman on what I overheard from Mr. Detective.)" Raven said to herself to be thinking.

"You mean April May? Like I said, I'm not giving you any info, pal."

Too bad, Gumshoe, you just did for Raven to know that you would slip up.

"April Mayâ€|? (So lame of a name there!)" she said.

"(Her name's April May, huh?)" said Phoenix. "She must've gone home by now, right?"

Gumshoe was still laughing a little to keep his mouth shut, or so he thinks he was.

"Who do you think we are? No way would we let her leave her room till the trial ends!"

Another good information given out, April was still at the hotel across from the building. Raven inks to tell Phoenix that she got Gumshoe to talk, some how.

"(That means she's still at the hotel across the way.)" said Phoenix.

"My lips are sealed tighter than a bank vault, pal." said Gumshoe.

For that Raven and Phoenix got what they needed out of Gumshoe to take off.

"Got it, pal!" Phoenix said to act normal around the detective.

For that they take off across their working place to the other building called, Band-o-Hotel or the Gatewater Hotel where this April person called 911 when Mia was killed.

"This must be it. April's staying at the Band-o-Hotel. Odd name for a place to relax in." said Raven. "Let's go inside, Phoenix, to get what we need for Marvin."

"Right." he said to following Raven. "(The key witness, April May...This must be her room.)"

Standing right outside of April's room was room 303, for Phoenix knocks on the door to see if she was there.

"Um, anyone here?" he ask.

But no answer, however, the door was unlock and half way open for them to see that. Who does that in a hotel? I mean really?

"Phoenix, I think her door's unlocked and open. See?" said Raven.

So they entered inside to see if April was around.

"Excuse me..."

Still no answer for Phoenix and Raven had a quick look around anyways. For the room seem to look nice, with two glass drinks on the table. Wait..Something was wrong. April was the only one staying in the room, right? Raven finds that hard to believe...She started scanning the glasses for hair pieces and/or fingerprints to scan into her laptop. Also Phoenix looks at his working place from across the window in a good view, for Gumshoe to be doing his job alright.

"I can see Mr. Detective..." said Raven.

"You're right, I see how April saw this from here. (Look at them go.)"

Also next to the table of the wine glasses were two odd looking things for both Phoenix and Raven to uncover.

"Phoenix, check this out..." she said. "Two wine glasses for one woman? Unless she had an uninvited guest. And what would a woman need from a screwdriver?"

It was an odd looking screwdriver for a woman like April May to be having.

"This thing? It's really a flashy type of screwdriver?" said Phoenix.

Raven started taking pictures of the evidences on her end, for Phoenix drops the screwdriver to put it back where he found it. But under the bed, he found two more things looking like some pair of pin-like diamonds lying on the floor. Another clue!

"Phoenix?" Raven asks him.

"I found something else under the bed."

He shows it to her.

"Let me see... (No way...!)"

Again, Raven gets more photos of the clues quickly before April calls out to someone that she thinks it was in her room, but wasn't.

"Is that you, bellboy?" April was calling out from the bathroom.

She then opens the door to show her leg to that person, still being naked.

"Is she...?! (Smooth, Wright, real smooth. Raven is the one for you, not her!)" Phoenix kept repeating himself in saying that.

"Leave the wine there, would you? Or would you rather drink with me?"

Raven got what she needed for her and Phoenix to get out of the room.

"Phoenix!"

"N-No thanks!" he said.

Phoenix puts the screwdriver back on the table to leave until he trips on a trash barrel on the floor. He tries cleaning it up to putting it back before April got out...He then finds something else on the floor for Raven to scan into her data as well.

"What the...?" she said to be looking at it.

"Another clue?"

From looks of the device, it appears to be a tapping wire use to tap into phone calls of someone. Very illegal to do...

"Alright, Phoenix, you got something...Thanks."

"(She said thanks to me...)" Phoenix was falling head over heels for Raven so much.

Raven took the picture of the device as well.

"Got it! Come on, let's get out of here."

The two leave the room in time, before Bellboy goes in there as Phoenix and Raven played it cool with him noticing on what they did just now. That was too close! Right on time to be outside of the building of the hotel for Phoenix was freaking out as Raven gathered enough clues for Marvin to have within her laptop...

"That was close...!" said Phoenix catching his breath. "Raven! I wasn't looking at her legs! I swear!"

"Ah...Okay? I don't know what you're freaking out about...I got what I need to aid Marvin for tomorrow." said Raven to looking happy.

"(Good...She didn't notice...)"

Phoenix and Raven got plenty of evidences out of the hotel room, they look at it of that strange looking device.

"Hey, Raven, is this a wiretap?" he asks her.

"Let me check."

Raven scans it on her laptop to get something from it.

"Oh, yeah. Big time." said Raven. "A handmade one too. Can get in trouble when using stuff like this. (Don't tell me that this was that April's doing...)"

All this for Phoenix to worry about Raven getting jealous, he thought so at least. He then gets a call on his cell phone speaking of Marvin calling them up, though it won't be any good news to hear at all.

"Speak of the devil, it's Marvin himself." said Raven.

Phoenix answers his phone.

"Hello?" said Phoenix. "Oh, Mr. Grossberg..."

"I'm truly sorry, but I can't take the case." he said in a very sad tone.

That wasn't good for those two to hear at all, Maya's in danger now without Marvin defending her.

"YOU WHAT!?" Raven screams out in shock. "Why not?!"

"But you agreed yesterday!" begged Phoenix. "Please! The client is Mia's sister!"

"I know that...But I'm sorry."

Something was really wrong here for neither Phoenix or Raven don't know why Marvin was backing down all of a sudden, maybe because from the phone call he got yesterday being a very bad one, a threat on the poor lawyer.

"Could you at least refer another attorney?" he asks Marvin.

"No kidding! Come on! Maya's life is on the line here!" Raven yells out on the phone.

But like that'll happen if he could, but he was force not to.

"Terribly sorry, my boy. Same to you, my dear. I really am...But I'm afraid no lawyer worth their salt would take this on."

"Wh-Why? I mean-"

Marvin then hangs up on Phoenix for Raven could tell that something was wrong with him after being his cheerful self yesterday, to feeling upset in not helping them out. What's worth, his painting goes missing from his office all of a sudden. Who was that greedy man who called Marvin in the first place? Looks like the same one who tapped into Mia's phone before she was murder...Soon it starts to rain with cherry blossoms flying from the trees. Phoenix and Raven work hard to finding another defense lawyer to help them out and maya all day long, wasn't easy to have one more lead in mind to tell her back at the detention center. Though riding on one bike together and getting all wet, Raven was upset as much as Phoenix was too on what Marvin did to them 'though had no choice'.

"This sucks!" Raven yells out loud. "What gives?! This wasn't like this guy at all...Being happy and cheerful yesterday, to abandoning us today at the worse time! Crap-!"

Raven trips into a puddle to getting wet for Phoenix to help her back up.

"Come on!" she complains.

"Raven?" he checks on her.

"I'm fine..."

"Let me help you, please."

Phoenix lends Raven a hand back up on her feet.

"Thank you."

Raven sees Phoenix looking really upset to have her close by his side right now.

"Phoenix? Look, it's going to work out for us. We got one more lead. That's better than nothing you know, we won't give up on Maya yet. So cheer up, I should be more upset than you are."

"I know, but still..." said Phoenix feeling sad. "What am I suppose to say to her?"

"Phoenix..." Raven worries about him.

He remembers on a rainy day like this one now...A flashback when he was a boy waiting to getting back home as a kid on the streets, for he had umbrella on him to walk home or he would get really wet. A girl passes by with one to walk just fine, but stops to lend the young Phoenix a hand as they walk in the rain under a umbrella together being a touching scene there. Now with Raven by Phoenix's side, it must be luck to being togethr like today on a rainy day too. To also remember Phoenix being called a 'thief' a lot from the other kids to making him cry for something that he didn't do at all, even the girl who once helped him did the same thing to him for he kept on saying to everyone.

"It wasn't me...It wasn't me!" young Phoenix said. "I didn't do it!"

Raven didn't know what Phoenix was thinking about, but she can feel his pain as she was in too.

"(Right now, she's in the same position as I was then!)" he said.

Like Maya was too be in jail and crying the same as Phoenix did when he was young...Happening all over again. Soon Phoenix knew what he had to say to her but will not give up, and neither will Raven.

"Raven, get on my bike. And hold on to me. We won't give up on Maya."

Once he said that, Raven understood him to still be by his side.

"Okay! I'm with you all the way, we will solve this case together if we have to!"

They take off all the way back to the detention center again to see Maya. Though wet...Phoenix and Raven had to dry themselves off real quick, nice of the officers' giving them some dry towel to use.

"Bad idea...! Riding in the rain...! Without umbrella...!" Raven complained. "I'm freezing here!"

"Sorry about that..." Phoenix felt bad.

"It's no big deal, really. let just dry off and then go talk to Maya."

Phoenix then goes up Raven to finish drying the rest of her upper body off for her 'that she can't reach around to her backside'.

"Here..."

"Ah! Phoenix!"

"Please let me, Raven." he begs of her. "(She smells nice...)"

Raven allowed it to be sitting down.

"Fine, but go easy okay?" she said.

"I would never hurt you." he smiles.

Phoenix began drying off Raven from her hair gently as possible for her, the head, face, neck, and slowly her shoulders. For she felt weird when he was doing that to her to still be strong. Phoenix never felt like this before in a long time to falling in love.

"(Just being by this woman side...I just can't get enough of her. Such beauty, caring, a strong will, and passion she has. I want nothing more but to comfort her with a new life and not to be alone anymore. Not when I'm around her.)"

Raven felt one drop of water coming from Phoenix's hair for her to dry him off next with her towel.

"Phoenix...You miss a spot. Here." she said to him.

"Huh? Oh. Thank you."

The two see them holding each other's hands to be staring for a few seconds...Then they had to get back to work but as a team.

"We should probably..."

Phoenix stops in time to being silly around Raven again.

"Of course." said Phoenix. "I think we're dry off now."

"Big time. Time to go see Maya now." Raven said.

So Raven and Phoenix see Maya again to tell her the bad news and saying sorry to her, knowing that Marvin wouldn't do this to her without a good reason.

"I'm sorry." Phoenix said to Maya.

"I'm sure Grossberg's on your side; maybe he had something in mind for us? Maybe?" Raven feels bad right now. "(We're so dead!)"

But Maya did understood on what they were trying to do for her.

"It isn't your fault. Neither one of you." Maya said to try feeling a bit better sort of. "I've been abandoned, huh?"

Not to them she hasn't yet...

"Not at all, Maya."

"She's right." said Phoenix. "That's not true. Er..."

Phoenix reaches into his bag to grab his note book paper to show something to Maya on one more lawyer to talk to as promised.

"Check this out, right here."

Raven uses her laser pointer to show Maya a certain name for another defense lawyer, or two thanks to her and Phoenix.

"Look! These two said they'd hear us out. Don't give up!"

So Maya sees that for having everything crossed out but two names 'with a cherry blossom petal on one page'. One saying Kyle Rivers Law Offices...For Maya was amazed that they haven't give up on her yet and believing in her innocence now.

"We'll go see them now." said Phoenix. "We still have time!"

As Phoenix was putting his notebook back into his jacket, Maya sees him having lots of other flower petals all over his back side for one to fall closes to her side. As Raven had a look at him from being a bit wet to something else in her eyes.

"(You know? When I look at Phoenix like that, he looks...Kind of cute...)"

Maya then gets up from her seat to look at Phoenix, as he looks at her for Raven to do the same on the both of them back and forth.

"Phoenix! You know what to do! Do it!" Raven cheers Phoenix on.

Maya then cries again for it was a good thing this time, for the rain has stopped for the sun to be shining again and the petals to fall less from the trees. Meaning that some flowers of a cherry blossom has bloom, the petal stayed fresh when falling down from it, and it only left with one thing to be a sign of some kind. Maya walks over to the screen to ask Phoenix and Raven this questioned.

"Mr. Lawyer...Raven..."

He does the same thing on his end too.

"Maya..."

And they both say something different for their help to each other.

"Please defend me!" said Maya.

"Please let me defend you!" said Phoenix.

Looks like they both said it together to be surprised about it.

"Talk about jinx..." said Raven. "(That's the spirit, Phoenix.) Me too! I'll help you all the way, Maya."

The two then say their thanks to each other.

"Gladly-!" Maya hits her head on the screen.

"I'd be glad to-" same with Phoenix too.

That had to hurt there.

"OW!" said Phoenix.

"Ouch..." as well as Maya.

Maya then laughs to find this all good and funny to be smiling again for her.

"Well, look at that. She's smiling." said Raven. "Glad to see someone having high hopes for us."

"Thanks, you two. I needed that." Maya said to them.

Phoenix laughs with Maya too, as Raven places her hand on his head to rub it and make it feel better for him.

"Phoenix, are you okay?"

He liked the feeling a lot to be turning red from Raven's soft touch.

"I'm fine, thank you... (Her hands are so soft...)"

"Well, you two...We got a case that needs solving for Mia's sake for her spirit to rest. So let's do this!"

As Raven was ready to go all out along with Phoenix too in defending Maya, the next day of the trial of her has finally began. The court building is all set to go, as Edgeworth comes driving to the place in his awesome looking red car 'since he can drive'; while Phoenix rides his bike there for Raven to be riding with him on the back side for she didn't mind at all even for him to be enjoying being around her. Near the entrance of the courthouse with lots of cops and news reporters were all over the place, Edgeworth makes his way inside of the building looking calmer as ever.

"Mr. Edgeworth!" said one of the officers.

Prosecutor - Miles Edgeworth

Phoenix parks his bike out back with the other ones as Raven got off to getting her gear all ready to go.

Defense attorney - Phoenix Wright

Murder Mystery Solver - Raven Strides

"I'm ready to crack this case for sure. We can do this, Phoenix."

Phoenix looks at Raven being so lovely to him to turn red all over his body.

"(So amazingâ€¦)" he said quietly.

"You okay?"

Phoenix snaps out of it.

"I'm good! I'm good! Listen, Raven, I meant to tell you something. About Bobby"

Raven had to listen what Phoenix had to say.

"What about that loser?" she ask.

"If he tries doing anything to you badly again, I'll defend you. Because"

Raven took a wild guess on what Phoenix was trying to say to her.

"You would defend me against Bobby?"

Phoenix wanted to tell Raven also on how he felt for her, but again he had trouble speaking.

"(Not now! Speak up!) I'm saying that because I Love-!"

Raven shows Phoenix the data on her laptop to keep on there once they get in the court room.

"Check it out!"

"That's a lot of things you downloaded. This might help. (Crap! I mess up again! Stupid!)"

"Yep. With this, we're sure to defend Maya and find the guilty one somehow from that night...Some how." said Raven.

"Any leads from them or clues?"

Raven was typing really fast to search from her laptop for she was good doing it as they make their way inside the building.

"I know so, got to put the puzzle pieces together. The court law says its legacy to show and to know what you must say, but no hacking to the courtroom during the case so. Other than that we're good. Let's show this Edgeworth dude whose boss."

Phoenix stops Raven on one more thing to say.

"About Edgeworth, Raven. Be careful, he's a tough one." he said.

The two entered in the room together for Raven wasn't afraid to face anyone who was scary, mean, or weird looking.

"Oh, come on, Phoenix. Time to defend Maya Fey. I mean, really? I don't blame you but how bad can he really be?"

"(Ah, you would know once you see.)"

And away then go inside of the courtroom once again to defend Maya against Edgeworth to question April first as a witness.

Time: April 6, 9:10 AM

Location: District Court - Courtroom No. 1

Phoenix and Raven take their spot 'without Mia with them anymore'.

"All good to go with my laptop skills..." said Raven. "Mia, I hope you're watching because this will all be for you and your sister to being saved."

"(Last time, I had the chief by my side.)" said Phoenix. "(But today, Raven and I must fighter together with her to save Maya. Her sister!)"

And then came Edgeworth himself taking his stand to be in 'like Winston does too'. For Maya sits down to watch and listen, the Judge was ready to go, the juries as well, and Phoenix sees Edgeworth to be tightening his fist of surprise within him that he hasn't seen in a very long time. While Raven sees this famous prosecutor lawyer up close in person. He bows to make his appaearance like a gentlemen would, least he's honest for 'most' parts.

"(So that's Miles Edgeworth, huh? Quite the gentlemen, as I quote for what the girls would say about this man...)" said Raven. "(And yet, Phoenix knows of this man way too well. I wonder why?)"

Lucky for Raven, she doesn't find him to being her type if it were to happen. Then Phoenix says it to Edgeworth before the trial could start.

"It's been a while, Edgeworth." said Phoenix.

Edgeworth sees Phoenix in person again to act like he didn't care at all, more like surprised without admitting it. He had only this to say to him...

"What in the world are you doing here, Phoenix Wright?" said the prosecutor lawyer himself.

"Phoenix...You two know each other?!" Raven questiosn him.

He was ready and so was Raven on this case.

"(At last...At last, I've come this far.)" Phoenix said with courage from within "(I became an attorney to stand in this courtroom, with the woman that I'm falling for by my side. Let me show you, Miles Edgeworth, what Phoenix Wright, attorney-at-law, is made of!)"

With Phoenix's badge out, determite about this, seeing Edgeworth again at a time like this, and Raven helping him out - he has nothing to lose.

"OBJECTION!" he said out loud.

"Objection, huh?" Raven said after hearing and seeing all of that happened. "In that case...Ready or not, let's solve this case! Let me all show you what this murder mystery solver can do! Here comes...Raven Strides, that's yours truly!"

With those two ready as the trial now begins in defending Maya Fey and avenging Mia on the real killer that murder her, can they prove that in court against Edgeworth? Who never loses? Will April take the stands or the Bellyboy? And will the evidences be enough that both Phoenix and Raven need? We'll soon find out next time...Your thoughts on this so far? Give me a buzz please. :D

3. Turnabout Sisters: 2nd Trial

Ace Attorney Anime Series

Episode #3 - Turnabout Sisters: 2nd Trial

It's the first day of the trial of Maya Fey, for both Phoenix Wright and Raven Strides defend her on a crime she didn't commit from murdering Mia against the prosecutor Miles Edgeworth. One of the best of the best...It won't be so easy to do that's for sure - and for that Phoenix brings you up to speed from the last episode.

"(Last time, I had the chief by my side. As well as Raven being there for her too, and now me. But today, both of us have to fight as a team without Mia this time to save Maya! With Raven's skills of hacking to solving murder cases and my defending her, we won't give up until we find the right killer. OBJECTION!)"

And for that, the trial shall begin!

ALL RISE!

Time: April 3, 10 AM

Location: District Court - Courtroom No. 1

As the juries, the cops, and other people watch the whole thing from their seats in the room - Phoenix and Raven were ready on their side of the stands where the defense lawyer sits at...

Defense Lawyer - Phoenix Wright

Murder Mystery Solver - Raven Strides

As well as Edgeworth was all ready to go on his end where the prosecutor lawyers sit at as too.

Prosecutor - Miles Edgeworth

First time for Raven to meet with Edgeworth in person and to be up against and heard about his line of work a lot.

"(Miles Edgeworth...)" said Raven. "Phoenix, the next time I judge a book by their colorsâ€¦ just correct me."

"I'll try keeping that in mind." he said to her. "(I'm up against Miles Edgeworth, with Raven by my side too. He's on of the unprecedented genius prosecutor...)"

And sitting at the chair to defending or pointing against was Maya herself looking a bit sad, but tries to be strong throughout this whole trial that was about to happen today. What a brave girl.

Defendant - Maya Fey

With Maya looking at Raven and Phoenix 'who were her only hope left', he looks back to let her know that all will work out somehow. As well as Raven will help Phoenix without Mia since she's no longer with them.

"(We got your back, Maya, don't you worry.)" Raven said to give Maya hope in them.

Soon the Judge enters in the room to start out the trial right away once seated and hits his gavel.

Judge* **

"Court is now in session for the trial of Maya Fey." said the Judge.

The two lawyer speak up at a time from Edgeworth to Phoenix in saying that they were ready.

"The prosecution is ready, Your Honor." said Edgeworth.

"The defense is ready, Your Honor." and Phoenix too.

"Mr. Edgeworth, please give the court your opening statement."

Once the Judge says that, Edgeworth explains everything like it is, and Raven got her laptop out to begin scanning and typing all that she knows of to put the pieces together.

"Here we go. Let's get started..."

And Edgeworth bows to the Judge to doing his part first.

"Certainly, Your Honor."

The big screen pops up to show a picture of both Mia and Maya's profiles a little for everyone else to see what's going on. As well as some photographs of Mia's body lying dead in her own office with the murder weapon on that night, all set up and explaining in full detail.

(Victim - Mia Fey, age 27...

Suspect - Maya Fey, age 17.)

"The victim is Mia Fey. And the suspect, Maya Fey. The two of them were sisters." explained Edgeworth. "The prosecution has evidence the defendant committed the murder, and we have a witness who saw her do it. The prosecution sees no reason to doubt her guilt, Your Honor. Thus, let the first witness take the stand."

This was really something for Raven to be seeing and hearing all of this on what Edgeworth was saying.

"(Wowâ€¦ He's good. And I mean way good.)"

And the first to take the stands was Gumshoe himself.

"Witness, please state your name and profession." the prosecutor lawyer said.

This couldn't be happening for Raven to see Gumshoe going first.

"You got to be kidding me..." Raven complains.

"Sir!" he answers. "My name's Dick Gumshoe, sir. I'm the detective in charge of homicides down at the precinct, sir!"

Witness: District Police - Detective Dick Gumshoe

"Detective, I believe you are already aware of this, but keep your testimony concise and to the point."

Gumshoe would follow Edgeworth's orders anytime.

"Y-Y-Yes, sir!" said the detective.

So here we go for Phoenix, Raven, and Edgeworth to hear Gumshoe's out in his testimony of his police work.

Witness Testimony

Edgeworth gets Gumshoe to start telling the people of the courtroom on what they need to know, always the prosecutors job to accuses the innocent people with false lies, that's their job.

"First, describe the details of the murder."

"Very well. Let me use this floor plan of the office to explain." Gumshoe said to saying something to Raven. "Go ahead, kid, you can copy the chart down on your thingy..."

"I'm already on it, Mr. Detective." said Raven. "Okay, we'll do our very best here, both Phoenix and me. I just know it."

"Geeze! That was fast...!"

He points up to start talking and Raven copying the floor plans into her laptop, the rest was shown on the big screen for a better view. From the mess of Mia's office being trashed when the killer came in to killing her to ruin the lamp, her chair on her desk was pushed down, and the murder weapon 'being The Thinker' was lying on the ground...It also shows where Mia's body was at for Raven to mark that spot down.

"Any who...The body was found here, by the window."

Raven was typing into the details really fast to hack into as well to Phoenix's surprise on how amazing she was.

"(Wow, she's really good. Glad she's on my side.)" he said to himself.

"And the cause of death?" Edgeworth ask.

Showing the murder weapon the Thinker on the table being shown in court again, the second one that Larry made to give to Mia.

"She died instantly due to being struck by a blunt object, sir!" answered Gumshoe.

Raven takes another photo shot of the murder weapon to her laptop to use it again as evidences.

"The murder weapon was a statue of The Thinker, correct?"

Edgeworth goes up to the table to look at one of the evidences.

"Yes, sir." answered Gumshoe to Edgeworth again. "It was found lying next to the body."

"You immediately arrested Ms. Maya Fey, who was found at the scene. Can you tell me why?"

When Gumshoe and the other cops found the receipt paper with Maya's name written on the back in blood, thinking it was Mia's dying word to writing down who her killer was.

"I had hard evidence she did it, sir. Before she died, the victim wrote the killer's name. The word 'Maya' was clearly written in blood! Right there!"

Also shown on the table as evidences in a plastic bag. Maya got upset when she heard of that part, she didn't even murder her own sister, as Raven was trying to gather up the things on her end.

"From autopsy files, the floor plans, the murder weapon, and the receipt...So much to add up here, but I won't give up." said Raven.

Gumshoe says the rest about the name written in blood.

"Test results showed the blood belonged to the victim. That's hard evidence!"

Edgeworth says this to give out false lies about Maya being the killer next.

"So the victim identified her killer right before she died?"

"Yes, sir! That's exactly it-"

Before Gumshoe could finish talking, as Raven looked at Phoenix to give him a sign to object to this matter at hand to stopping the detective.

"OBJECTION!" shouted Phoenix. "Hold on a second! There's no way the victim could've written the bloody message!"

Gumshoe just laughs a little.

"Oh, please...Amateurs would do well to keep their mouths shut, pal."

Raven says something to after checking twice of any finger prints or hair left from Maya, she found nothing which was a very good thing.

"GOT YOU NOW!" she said. "He's right, she couldn't have! Why? Still unknown who the killer was who wrote Maya's name down in Mia's blood, but it proves after looking from my laptop's camera-like telescope that I match of no traces of finger or hair from that poor defendant what's so ever. How so, Mr. Detective? From the autopsy report as well. Mia was killed in seconds who couldn't have been alive in a few minutes before her un-timing death. Phoenix."

Phoenix says the rest to taking out the autopsy papers for Gumshoe to listen in.

"(Way ago, Raven.) She's right, Detective. This right here in my hands is your department's autopsy. And it says the victim 'died instantly due to blunt force trauma'."

"That's right, pal." said the detective. "And you, Kid, I guess you can be useful something."

A comment from Gumshoe to say to Raven.

"Okay...? Thanks I guess?" she goes along with it.

"And after the blow instantly killed her, she used her last ounce of strength-"

Haven't Gumshoe heard what Phoenix and Raven said about Mia not being dead after getting hit to the head at all?

"Wait," Phoenix stops Gumshoe. "there was no ounce or pound! She was dead!"

"That's what I just said..." Raven added to Phoenix's point of view.

Now Gumshoe gets it to being confused to himself about it.

"Huh? But..."

Phoenix stopped Gumshoe right there before butting his way out of this one.

"No butting your way out of this one!" he said.

"Th-That certainly is strange..."

Not to Phoenix or Raven didn't seem strange at all for Edgeworth was lying for Gumshoe to be saying all of it in court.

"The prosecution's evidence is contradictory!"

"No kidding! What he said!" Raven said with Phoenix too.

As he points out his proof for everyone else to hear, Phoenix and Raven might have a chance to win.

"(This could work!)" said Phoenix.

Soon the two hear Edgeworth laughing about something.

"What's so funny?"

"My, my." Edgeworth said to look like he was up to something. "That won't do, defense.

Raven tries correcting him by showing him the papers again.

"Oh, really?" she said. "The proof is on the autopsy report here. Remember?"

"True, however...That autopsy report is outdated."

Once Edgeworth said that, Raven tries finding out on what she miss on for Phoenix to get a bit worried even more.

"Wh-What?" Phoenix was confused.

"How's that even possible?!" Raven demanded to know. "(I never miss anything out on my end!)"

Edgeworth had another paper in his hands.

"Yesterday, the second autopsy was performed, which changed the report. From 'died instantly', to 'died pretty much instantly'."

Once he said that, this shocks the Judge to being speechless about it.

"P-P-" he said.

Phoenix finish saying it for the Judge.

"Pretty...? (This isn't good!)" Raven helps out.

"P-P-Pretty much?"

"Which means that the victim could have written that message. After all, she didn't die instantly..."

Even the Judge agrees with Edgeworth on that part.

"Indeed. the defense and his partner really ought to peruse the evidence beforehand."

Raven freaks out for Phoenix to start panicking.

"P-Please wait!" begged Phoenix. "Raven or I haven't heard anything about a second autopsy!"

"NOR DID I GET A COPY TO HOLD ON TO! WHAT THE HELL?!" Raven screams out loud to making the room quiet.

The Judge freaks out a little making Gumshoe and Maya to jump by surprise after that, but Edgeworth. Phoenix though, a bit freaked out himself.

"(Easy there, Raven, I feel the same way...)"

"Oh...Forgive me, Ms. Strides..." said the Judge.

Edgeworth said on how he gotten new reports of the autopsy on his end.

"Well, so sorry to hear. I did only receive the results this morning. Go ahead, Ms. Strides, scan it into you fancy computer, and prove me wrong. And apparently, there was a mistake in the paperwork. Isn't that right, Detective Gumshoe?"

"Huh? But I didn't..." Gumshoe panics.

Poor Gumshoe...With Raven getting the other paper to scan, it was a bit half true and half a lie.

"In the matter at hand, Edgeworth's right...Sort of." she said to say part of it being true. "(In a way of lying about it maybe...Cheater!)"

"Regardless, the defense and his cute partner seem to both have dug their own graves." said Edgeworth to be blowing a kiss at Raven.

Phoenix didn't think that Edgeworth would play so low in winning cases by lying, that should be against the rules for some prosecutor lawyers.

"(Great! Now he's fluttering with me!)" grosses Raven out.

"Y-You're playing dirty, Edgeworth!" said Phoenix.

"Allow me to dispense some advice." Edgeworth said. "In court, proof is everything. Without it, you two are nothing, amateurs!"

Ouch! Poor Phoenix, that got him there from Edgeworth's words and Raven confused.

"Phoenix? You okay...?" she said to checking on him.

"It seems our upstart defense attorney and his new partner is 'pretty much' DOA." he said while taking a bow.

Raven tries patting Phoenix on the head to making him feel better a bit, but not when he was owned by Edgeworth himself in court.

"(So it was a trap...)" said the defense lawyer.

Raven or Phoenix won't go down so easily on what other things they had in stored.

"Edgeworth!" she said to him. "Try as you might to talking back to us, but we won't lose the battle! Now when I'm with Phoenix here to saving Maya's innocence!"

Maya was speechless that they're trying without giving the fight so soon.

"Raven...Mr. Lawyer..." she said quietly.

Then Edgeworth will be calling the next witness to the stands who made the call about Mia being murder from across the street, or so they think...

"The prosecution would like to call its next witness. The poor, innocent lady saw the murder with her own eyes!"

And so April May finally appears to make the stands to testify, and already from her cuteness and hot looks, won over the men to fall head over heels for her. Raven already hates her...From looks, her short skirt, big breasts, and high heels to be showing herself off like this.

"Oh...My...God..." Raven said to be horrified in seeing this was happening.

"Sorry to keep you waiting, my dears..." she said.

The Judge was found by April, but Phoenix wasn't leaving Maya confused.

"Witness, please state your name." Edgeworth said to her.

"April May! At your service!" said April with a wink.

"Fluttering much, lady...?" Raven said to not caring at all.

"No wonder why you can't get a man in your life, missy." April talks about at her. "From your flat

Witness - April May

Once April said that, Raven got so mad to almost going up to her for Phoenix to hold her down a little while saying some mean things.

"Why you...!" she snaps. "SAY THAT TO MY FACE AGAIN, YOU WHORE! I DARE YOU TO!"

"Raven! Calm down!" said Phoenix. "Just ignore her! (Though holding her like this, is worth it...)"

Raven stops in time to catch her breath for Phoenix was right...

"Fine...! But she's going to get it what we'll dish out of her. I know she's hiding something far more from us, Phoenix, believe me. Please continue, Your Honor."

With the Judge blushing at April's cuteness to listening to Raven too...

"Yes! Of course...! Also the witness will refrain from wanton winking."

April listens well to being sweet about the rule.

"Yes, Your Honor!" she said with glee.

Both Phoenix and Raven had to do their best here.

"(I feel sorry for Raven...This witness already capture the heart of every man in the court.)" worried Phoenix.

Edgeworth says this to April next.

"Testify to the court about what you saw on April 3rd, the night of the murder."

"Sure thing." she said.

"(God, I hate her already!)" complained Raven.

And so...Phoenix and Raven question April in her testimony for Edgeworth to listen in as well.

Witness Testimony

April explains everything on what she saw on the night of the murder to 'probably' lie about it.

"I saw it all happen with my own eyes..." she explains. "That night, I just looked out the window. And then, I saw a long-haired woman being attacked in the building across the street! The one attacking her was the mousy girl seated in the defendant's chair!"

April then pointed out to Maya to saying that she was the killer.

"N-No! I didn't..." said Maya.

Edgeworth then asked April this next question.

"Witness, do you recall the exact time?"

"Yeah." she answered. "I, like, heard a voice."

From the Thinker clock to going off when the head was turned.

"It's 8:50, I think..." said the clock.

Did it really...? Raven didn't think so this time since it wasn't working.

"The murder weapon spoke?" the Judge asks April.

Edgeworth then explains about the clock again 'on those who were new about it' to being the murder weapon again that was use differently in a way to killing Mia. He goes up to it to showing the murder weapon to everyone else in his hands.

"Yes, at a glance, it doesn't appear to be a clock." he said. "It's a fact the witness couldn't know unless she saw the moment of the murder. "

"Yes, we should consider her testimony to be true." said the Judge.

Not good for Phoenix and Raven to hear about.

"Raven..." he said to get her to help out again.

"I know...I'm working on it."

Edgeworth then says this next...

"With the bloody message the victim left behind and the eyewitness testimony to the crime, the prosecution believes the defendant's guilt has been proven beyond the doubt."

"Beyond a shadow of a doubt!" April agreed.

Phoenix and Raven better come up with something quickly.

"(What should I do?)" he said.

Raven then remembers Phoenix and her finding three things at the hotel that April stayed at, this was the perfect time to be showing a few of those evidences out right away.

"Phoenix...The wiretapping...Show that first!" she said to Phoenix.

"What?" he questions Raven.

"Just do it! I have an idea!"

And so Phoenix speaks up to question over April's testimony, to becoming a cross-examination thing next. From looking into Raven's eyes, he believes in her throughout this trial.

"Right. If you say so, Raven, I believe in you." he then says it.
"HOLD IT!"

Maya was worried that the two might get something wrong out of this again.

"Wait a minute!"

"What is it, defendant?" the Judge asks her.

"That clock couldn't have gone off-"

Edgeworth however stops Maya from talking any further by slamming his hand on the table.

"Who said you could speak, defendant?" he questions Maya.

"HEY!" Raven shouts out loud. "The Judge said she could say something you know!"

Then she stops to remember something about that part on Maya was trying to say, for Phoenix to soon remember it too.

"(O-Oh, right...) Objection! Raven, you thinking what I'm thinking too?"

She knows where Phoenix was getting, after scanning the inside of the clock to find that something was missing.

"Oh, right! I do!" she said with a smile. "Nice one, Phoenix, tell it like it is."

"(I will.) Please inspect the inside of that Thinker, Your Honor!"

"Th-The inside?" question the Judge.

And so one of the cops does open the clock from the bottom to seeing that it was empty as Raven and Phoenix thought that it would happen.

"It's quite empty..."

"We told you so." said Raven.

Phoenix slams his hand on the table to say the rest.

"On the night of the murder, it was missing its clockwork, so-"

Edgeworth then stops Phoenix there to say something else.

"It could not have gone off, yes?" he said. "It is empty inside. Anyone could have drawn that conclusion."

Raven was lost in words when Edgeworth said that part.

"Hey! I didn't hear of that at all!" Raven complains at Edgeworth.

"Well, I didn't either." same thing with the Judge.

"The question is when the clockwork fell out." Edgeworth explains the rest.

"Fell out?" both Phoenix and Raven said.

"Yes, when the clock was used to strike the victim, it spoke the time."

That it did 'or so they think' to saying it's 8:50 on that time.

"Okay? Where are you getting at here, Edgeworth? Explain to us!" Raven demanded to know.

"It was use to killing Mia, did it not? From one powerful hit. And then, the impact broke the base, and the clockwork fell."

So? Phoenix and Raven wish to know more about that part even if they keep repeating it to Edgeworth many more times, none of this wasn't making any sense here!

"B-But what about the clockwork?" Phoenix asked.

"It was found at the crime scene, on the floor." said Edgeworth.
"What of it?"

Not good for Phoenix to hear, Raven however doesn't believe in that part or finds it anywhere left out from the floor plans from her computer.

"(Is that so?)" she wondered.

The Judge thought to believe in that.

"Hmm...That does make sense."

"It is futile, my amateur defense lawyer and friend." said Edgeworth to mocking the two. "I use every piece of evidence the police find for my deductions. I overlook nothing!"

"Wh-What?" shock Phoenix.

"The only way to prove me wrong would be to prove when and how the clockwork was removed. But I can state without a doubt that is impossible."

So April says on what Edgeworth said to them.

"Impossible. Without doubt."

Raven got mad at April's attitude again to bite down on some random papers in her mouth to rip apart really fast.

"Don't make me claw your winking eyes out, you ugly bitch...!"

Ouch!

"Ugly bitch...?!" hurt April there within words.

Phoenix laughs a little.

"Nice one, Raven." he said. "(Anyways, when the clockwork was removed? What evidence could prove that? A piece of evidence Edgeworth isn't aware of.)"

From the room where Mia was murder in, the paper having Maya's name on it in blood, and Maya's cellphone found in the Charlie plant...The phone could be an important clue on what the sisters talk about the day before Mia was killed.

"(Oh, I know!) Raven!"

Raven gets where Phoenix was saying to her. After looking it up to hearing the message playing of Maya and Mia talking to each other on that morning.

"Right! (Maya's cell phone!)" she said.

"OBJECTION!" said Phoenix.

"The proof of what we're getting at is right here!"

Once Phoenix shows the phone for Raven to show in a hologram big screen, everyone finds a girly phone was weird for a man to be holding on to.

"What's with the cute cell phone?" the Judge asks Phoenix.

"(Does that look like a boy's cell phone looking too girly to you?!)" Raven said to herself to argue about.

Maya was surprised to seeing her cell phone was found thanks to them.

"This is the defendant's cell phone, found at the crime scene!" explained Phoenix.

This shocks Edgeworth for his eyes to wide in failing his line of work to missing that part out.

"What?!" shock Edgeworth 'told you so'.

"And it contains a recording of the conversation between the victim and defendant on the day of the murder!"

Edgeworth wasn't too happy with Gumshoe making a mistake from his job.

"This wasn't brought to my attention."

Gumshoe didn't think it was important either.

"Well, I, uh..." he was speechless.

"Detective Gumshoe, look forward to next month's evaluation." said the prosecutor lawyer.

Poor Gumshoe to looking upset and down after hearing that, Edgeworth cuts his payment 'all the time'...Everyone soon starts to question about the cell phone part all over the room for the Judge to hit his gavel to learn more about it.

"Order! Order!" he said.

"(Poor Mr. Detective...)" said Raven to getting back to the subject at hand. "Maya couldn't get rid of the recording during some phone calls of Mia and her talking. The morning way before her sister was killed. Listen, as I play it for everyone to hear with my skills going...Now!"

Phoenix plays it as Raven uses her computer to turn the volume up. The phone plays the call of Mia and Maya talking to each other...

"Oh, but at the moment, the clock doesn't talk." Mia said to Maya. "I had to remove the clockwork. I put some papers inside instead."

"Is that evidence, then?" Maya ask.

"Sharp as always."

Then it stops after that for the message to say this last part.

[Conversation recorded. April 3, 9:27 AM.]

Phoenix turns it off after that.

"Ha! This is more fun than playing any video game!" Raven got excited.

"In other words, on the morning of the murder, the clockwork was already gone." said Phoenix. "So it couldn't have gone off that night. Ms. May..."

April move one step back, meaning that the truth has come to life from her lies.

"I would confess already if I were you...!" Raven said to April.

"Your testimony contains a clear contradiction!"

April freaks out to acting innocent in public.

"N-No way." she said. "That call was recorded?"

"HA!" Raven stopped April on that part. "BINGO! (We're getting somewhere here.)"

Phoenix heard of it too in asking April on what she said just now, she really screw up now.

"What did you just say? 'That call was recorded'?" ask Phoenix.

"I believe that she did, Phoenix." Raven said.

"Did you know about their conversation-"

Then Edgeworth stops Phoenix from saying anything else.

"OBJECTION! That is irrelevant to this case. No need ton continue this line of question."

Phoenix and Raven don't think so in correcting Edgeworth.

"Oh, Raven and I disagree!" said Phoenix.

Edgeworth couldn't say anything else for the two in finishing their evidences from April's lies to prove them wrong.

"We have more than the recording on the cell phone...Both Phoenix and discovered something from a special hotel room just yesterday to find two to three clues, with one being illegal. Phoenix!"

Phoenix gets that certain item out from his pocket to show the rest of the people in the court room."

"Right, Raven." he said. "So that's what all this was about...Ms. May, you were listening in on the calls of the Fey & Co. Law Offices!"

Using this!"

Phoenix shows the wiretap to April, making her very shock to be seeing that in his hands.

"I-Is that a wiretap?" the Judge asks them.

"Oh, big time!" Raven explains. "One of the strongest items that cops use to finding their killer in phone calls, to tracking them down. Very illegal to use in terms like this one... I hack into things at times like these, but never to get into people's business'. She can do that with someone's help on it. And you may ask us, April, where did we find this that you know of in having a wiretap here? Well...?"

"Easy." Phoenix says the rest. "Raven and I found it in the trash can of her hotel room. Well, how about it, Ms. May? You were tapping the phone at the crime scene. And as Raven said, that's a crime punishable by law!"

Soon they broke April down to losing it, to be screaming really loud in the room 'even have her heart-like buttons t o spin upside down'. Weird...

"AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH!" screamed April. "Shut up, Spikey! You too, Vampire Queen! Who cares about some wiretap, darn it?! I'm telling you two that the girl did it. Just lead her to the gallows already, darn it!"

"Ooo, scary...Whatever." Raven ignores April.

"D-Darn it?" confused Phoenix.

April sure has a temper problem from her cuteness...

"I was just ordered to listen to their conversations. I had nothing to do with the murder, darn it!"

"You were ordered to tap the phone?" ask Phoenix. "By whom?"

Remember? Those two saw something belonging to the real killer with cuff-links lying on the ground with the fancy screwdriver too. That's all that Raven needed to hear, being a big clue there. Phoenix and Raven just remember those things and something else important too.

"GOT YOU NOW!" said Raven. "I see...Thanks, April, that's a big help to us. Someone ordered you to tap into Mia's phone to listen in, the wiretap item, and lying to us...Someone was with you the real murderer for sure. How so? Behold! Evidence number two...Phoenix, you know what to do next."

"Got it right here, Raven. (You're something else...)" said Phoenix to showing the cuff-links next. "Was the person who ordered you to perform the wiretap the owner of this cuff-link?"

They got April there as well.

"H-How'd you-"

Before April could ask.

"That's enough!" Edgeworth interrupts again to say something. "Your Honor..."

"What is it, Mr. Edgeworth?" the Judge answers.

"As you can see, some unexpected facts about this case have come to light. In order to further investigate, the prosecution requests that court be adjourned till tomorrow."

I guess Phoenix and Raven have another day to find more proof of Maya's innocence or Edgeworth will do everything he can to get her guilty if they don't, other than April is getting arrested for sure on a crime she did in aiding the killer and doing something very illegal.

"Oh! No fair!" complained April.

Raven was lost here.

"Wait, it's over?" she asks Phoenix.

"Don't worry, Raven, this is a good thing. You know? In a good note. We'll continue more in bringing this case to an end tomorrow."

Looks like Phoenix has done his homework pretty well on his end on how the courtroom works and their rules.

"If you say so, Phoenix. (We won round one so far until the second one comes around for us to do.)"

So with Phoenix feeling a bit happy to keep on going, and Raven learning more about the line of work of the trial...The Judge allowed Edgeworth's request to end it for today.

"The court accepts the prosecution's request. The prosecution and the defense, and Ms. Strides too, are to look into this matter fully."

With that, Edgeworth bows down to say his thanks. As Phoenix and Raven allows it as well to continue on their end.

"Of course." said Raven.

"Yes, Your Honor." said Phoenix.

Maya was relieved to have another day saved until tomorrow to continue on. Leaving Raven to say this to April before the police take her away to jail, meaning that there was some part of her who was still a bit innocent, almost.

"Listen, April..."

"What is it?" said April.

"(Just say it already...!) When you get out a month or so, get married and find a better job. You should have a good life, okay? Just don't do something this stupid again."

She didn't say nothing but just smiles a little to be taken away quietly to say in her way 'a thanks' to Raven, she got the message. As the Judge ends the trial for the day once he hits his gavel.

"That does it for Ms. Maya Fey's trial today. Court is adjourned."

Once the gavel was hit, everyone leaves the room. That's one lucky round that Phoenix and Raven got another chance on their end against Edgeworth, only the beginning to finishing the rest by tomorrow to prove Maya's innocence as she tells her thanks to them...Now Phoenix explains what happens next even though April got arrested, until release for good behavior later on - hope she learn a lesson after today.

"(April May was arrested on the spot for wiretapping.)"

Phoenix and Raven take five on the coach as Maya gives her thanks to them.

"What a day! Well, I got a lot of work to do with you, huh Phoenix?" she said to him.

Phoenix puts his hands on Raven for he was amazed from her skills in helping him out today.

"Ahâ€¦ Phoenix?"

"Raven! You're so cool! So cute! I don't know what I've done without your help. Thank you." said Phoenix to being so happy.

Raven was a bit confused but in a way he's been acting, but she was happy for Phoenix if he was happy.

"No problem..." said Raven.

"We got a lot of work to do in finishing the case, I just know it."

Raven got happy about it as well.

"Yeah! Bring it on, Edgeworth!"

Maya then comes in to saying something to the two for she was smiling.

"Mr. Lawyer...Raven..." she said. "You two were amazing in there!"

Maya bows to them to saying her thanks.

"Really? That's sweet for you to say that, Maya." said Raven.

Phoenix and Raven got up from their seats, leaving the defense lawyer a bit bashful from Maya's support.

"Yeah, you did well hanging in there, too."

"I think I might be your newest fan, both of you!" said Maya to Phoenix. "You two are so cool working together!"

Phoenix got a little shy about it.

"Oh, no..."

"Cool. We got a number one fan here." Raven said to him.

"The guards were all talking about you, also."

"R-Really?" he asked.

"They said for such a spikey-head with a cute hacker by his side, you were pretty good!"

Phoenix does have a different hair style that he does in jelling it.

"What does my hair have to do with anything?" said Phoenix to being a bit shy.

"I'm just so happy." Maya said to spinning around with joy. "I'm on cloud nine! You were also too, Raven, I'm jealous you can hack into anything at times like this..."

"Knowing me, I love to solve cases. So this murder will be going down." she said to Maya.

Maya then comes up closer to Raven to say something to her.

"So, Raven. I was wonderingâ€¦ What's your favorite color? What do you like to do? What's your dream? And you wish to be my friend after I'm free to go?"

Raven sees Maya was a good kid to her and to Phoenix.

"Wellâ€¦ Blue, solving mysterious, I want to be detective I guess, and sure. I'll be your friend."

Maya smiles as she gives Raven a big hug.

"Yeah! Hello, new girlfriend!"

Raven felt how powerful she was holding her tightly to being nice about it.

"(Both strong and learning some powers...!)" Raven said while trying to be strong. "Nice to meet you too, Maya. Back at you."

Maya let's go of Raven after that to finally free relief to almost crushing her bones.

"We owe it all to April May's slip of the tongue back then." said Phoenix.

"So you leave that part to us! Phoenix and I are ready" Raven said.

Maya bows to the two to say her thanks again, and wish them the best of luck.

"Thank you so very much, Mr. Lawyer and Raven."

They bow back to her.

"No problem."

"You're welcome." said Phoenix. "Then, we're heading out to investigate. Raven and I need to find some leads before tomorrow."

"Okay." she said. "If you two need me, I'll be back at the detention center!"

"Be strong, Maya, we'll find the real killer." Raven said to Maya.

With that, Maya was smiling again to hope for the best as both Phoenix and Raven do their best to continue solving the case to proving her innocence. So she goes back to the detention center leaving those two back at Fey & Co. Law Offices to find anything they could if Mia left anything out before her trial that she was about to do - with any luck on their end. Finding somewhere near the desk of Mia's old computer had to have some answers within one of the paper works.

"Nothing...Nothing..." Raven repeated to finding nothing so far. "Still scanning around..."

Raven was trying on her end, Phoenix didn't have much luck on his search either.

"That said, where are we supposed to find those leads?"

The two soon hear a person clearing his throat to getting their attention. Hey! Marvin's visiting the office to talk to both Raven and Phoenix, after feeling bad for not helping Maya out as promise - he was willing to help them out at least.

"Hey! It's you!" surprise Raven.

"Mr. Grossberg!" same with Phoenix.

They sit down to have a chat with Marvin that he watch the whole trial today, it was something else to face against Edgeworth himself, a very hard prosecutor to ever lose until now.

"So you came to see the trial?" Phoenix asks Marvin.

Marvin looked upset to beg forgiveness, while also saying how amazed he was from their hard work.

"It's astonishing that you two went up against Edgeworth and got the trial extended."

"Thank you." said Phoenix. "Anyways, what brings you here? Mr. Grossberg?"

He went silent all of a sudden to them.

"You alright, Marvin?" Raven asked him.

"I'm truly sorry, my boy and young lady...You both are fighting with all you've got despite being a rookie yourself. You however, Ms. Strides, you can do so much on your end t's truly amazing. But I ran." spoke Marvin. "And seeing yor courageous defense and skills made me realize that I might be time to bolster my resolve."

That word confused Phoenix and Raven on what Marvin just said to them.

"Resolve?" Phoenix repeated the word.

Marvin then shows them a photograph of the 'so call' famous man known as Redd White being another suspect to the case, which also has something to do with Mia's death. What a creep...

"Investigate this man." said Marvin.

Raven sees him as a freak for Phoenix looks at the photo closely.

"Who is this?" he ask.

"He looks like a snobby rich boy..." said Raven.

"Redd White, president of a company called 'Bluecorp.'."

If Marvin says so about Redd, seems serious even to Phoenix for Raven wanted to learn about that odd looking man. Also for him having fancy cuff-links like the ones they found from the hotel in April's room.

"Redd White..."

"Phoenix, look what he has on him!" Raven pointed out.

He sees it.

"Wait, you're right Raven. The cuff-link!"

"(Looks like we got ourselves more clues and one more suspect!)" Raven then asks Marvin this question. "What's the Bluecorp?"

Marvin tells them more about what Redd and his company does all the time...

"On the outside, Bluecorp is an information-gathering company. But in truth, it digs up dirt on people, forcing them to pay a fortune to keep the company quiet."

It's like a butterfly falling for a spider's web without knowing it's there, soon to be eaten by the main spider itself in the end...Kind of like that, so mess up.

"Wait, what?" questioned Phoenix. "That's blackmail!"

"No kidding! Hey...That's how Bobby does his business! Damn him...!"

Raven just started to remember that part, for Bobby does to be aiding a creep like Redd.

"And as embarrassed as I am to admit it, I couldn't defy that man, either."

From a flashback showing of Marvin back then to aiding both the young Mia and Maya when their mother was doing something big of a murder case, but that was unable to be solve in the end from one room of the temple...What did happen back then anyways...? Raven could tell there was far more about the Fey sisters, with more reasons about Redd on why Marvin couldn't defend Maya for them, because of the Bluecorp people even Bobby was working for them all along.

"Is that why you refused to defend Maya?" Phoenix asks him.

"Yes." he answered. "Some attorney I am..."

"Hey, hey, it's not your fault, Marvin. This Redd guy, must of blackmail you the way Bobby does to everyone else...Even to me...!" said Raven.

Phoenix felt bad for her from the many things that before working with him.

"(Raven...)" then getting back in asking Marvin the next question. "But why hasn't he been arrested? Blackmail is a crime!"

"He owns businessmen, politicians, policemen, and the judiciary. He's the most dangerous man in the country."

Redd White was a terrible man ever, so Marvin was saying to them.

"Wow...! (That monster!)" said Raven.

"U-Unbelievable..." same with Phoenix.

But wait, there was more about Redd and that has to do with Mia's death with many more reasons for Marvin to tell them about next.

"And for years, Mia was following his every move."

This was news for Phoenix and Raven to hear about.

"The chief was?" asked Phoenix.

"Marvin, you been a great help to us more than you think." Raven said to him.

Hours later 'thanks to Marvin's help' Phoenix and Raven started looking around the profiles on someone's last name' in a,b,c order from each box that Mia had in her box - for a White last name of Redd himself.

"Here, Phoenix, it should be somewhere in this box." Raven said to handing it to him.

"Thanks, Raven." he said to start checking the 'w' section.
"S,T,U,V...W...Wh...White...Huh?"

"What's wrong...? What?! Where did it go!?"

They see Redd White's profile not there anymore which wasn't good at all. Raven was shock leaving Phoenix confused on one missing profile...

"(She's right. It's gone. The 'W' file is missing. And for years, Mia was following his every move. If White was the one who stole the file...)"

Raven looked at Phoenix's face to tell that White might be behind all of this, but the only way to make sure that they were on the right track was to ask someone from across the streets from the Fey & Co. Law Offices.

"Bellboy..." Raven said to herself to be thinking of something.
"BINGO! Phoenix, the Bellboy could answer our question since he saw the man who was with April, you know...White was with her during the time before Mia was murder."

Phoenix was amazed from Raven's work little by little on what she says.

"That's right. Then he has seen Redd White!" said Phoenix.

"Yes, let's hear the rest from him to give us the big lead yet. Back at the Band-O-Hotel that is."

And so they do in asking Bellboy about Redd White since she serve April during the time, he was very useful in helping them out on everything that they needed to know alright...

"Yes, I was him." said the Bellboy.

Looks like Raven was right for her and phoenix to be asking Bellboy after seeing a photo of Redd.

"Told you so..." Raven said with a smile to being right again.

"Nicely done, Raven. (Both smart and beautiful the way she is.)" he said to asking Bellboy once more. "Are you absolutely sure April May checked in with this man?"

Gateway Hotel - Bellboy

This man sure is helpful that's for sure.

"Ab-So-lutely. She's such a beautiful lady, I was jealous of the man with her."

And with that answered of course, Phoenix rides on his bike 'with Raven holding on to him from the backside' to make their way to Bluecorp. building right away in questioning Redd himself next.

"This explains everything on what Mia died for...Redd and Bobby...They'll pay for this, but that weirdo comes first." Raven said to Phoenix.

He agrees with her on that part, soon they arrive to the building itself.

"(Then, the one who order the wiretap really was...Redd White!)"

Once Raven and Phoenix enter inside, taking the elevator all the way to floor 50 one more up, and they will demand some answers out of that one man that Mia was investigating. From a nice looking view from a huge window to see through the sun set, they soon arrive to the main room of the boss building of Bluecorp. himself - a big door for them to go into seeing Redd to having almost everything in a room 'even the huge paint potrait that Marvin had'.

"What's with the surreal decor?" question Phoenix.

"Freakyâ€|" same with Raven.

Soon the two hear someone calling to them.

"What are your names?" the stranger asks them.

Phoenix and Raven turn around to see this person.

"What the..." said Phoenix.

And there they finally find Redd White in person - from flashy clothing, looks, his teeth, the cufflinks, and attitude was their man. Sprarkling much...?

Bluecorp President - Redd White

"It's him..." Raven said.

The two play their part to make Redd to confess one way or another as Phoenix speaks up to the man first.

"Oh, h-hello."

"Your names! What are you names?" Redd asks them. "Furish me with the title of your personage! From the both of you. So what are you name?"

So they introduce themselves to Redd.

"I-I'm Wright...Phoenix Wright."

"And I'm Raven Strides, his partner...AH!"

"Hey! (He's trying to look up at her skirt! The nerve of him!)" Phoenix argues.

Redd tries pulling Raven's short skirt to seeing more from her to move away in time.

"Umm...Ms. Strides, huh? Such a lovely woman you are."

"Is that so...? (What a pervert!) Thanks for the comment, I guess." Raven kept to herself about.

All Redd did was smile at them.

"Welcome. I lived in America for a long time, so I have a hard time with Japanese." he said to Phoenix.

Meaning that he was ignoring Phoenix or caring less about him than he does with Raven.

"(Really?)" he wonder.

Redd then goes to have a seat at his desk to act friendly to the two without looking nervous...

"I'm Redd White...The president, el presidente, of this company. By the way, I know that Ms. Strides' a well hacker who solves mysteries, very good. And you, good sir, are a mere attorney, fresh out of law school, right?"

"Well, he's got those parts right about us." said Raven.

Phoenix would had to agree with Raven too on what she just said about Redd on what they do.

"Well, yes." he answers back.

"I heard from my secretariat. So, 'mighty' lawyer and friend...What's the matter?" said Redd to being a show off. "What business do you two have with me?"

So they get to the point for Phoenix to say it first for Raven to support him.

"Ms. April May...You know her, right?"

"Pink hair, hot looks, and a dumb lady to lure any men to them." Raven explains.

"Yes, I do!" Redd answers back. "She was my secretariat. What a shock it was to hear what she'd done!"

Then Phoenix says this to Redd.

"What do you mean, 'what she'd done'? You mean the wiretap?"

Redd gives them a thumbs to answer them back a big yes.

"Yes, we can! Of course. Yes, information-gather is what this company does. But I assure you two, we would never resort to illegal methods, such as wiretaps."

"Is that so, Redd? And of Bobby working with you?" Raven asks him.

"Oh, that man? He use to work there, just aiding him for payment until he moves up top on his own sooner or later." he said with a odd smile. "Sorry that he's been treating you like crap lately, young lady."

"Oh, really? That's what we learn about a certain friend who was investigating about you and your company..."

Phoenix then says this part to Redd next after Raven did.

"Ms. May says she was acting under orders, though."

"She's passing a buck?" he asks them. "What a bad, bad kitten...Your partner however..."

Raven punches at Redd's desk.

"Don't even think about it, pal...!"

Those two weren't done with this guy yet.

"The day she witness the murder, you checked in with her at the hotel, right?" Phoenix asks Redd.

"Who can say? I seldom pay attention to mundane details such as time and place. My motto is don't worry, be happy!"

Phoenix and Raven stop Redd from there.

"But the hotel bellboy remembered you clearly."

"He's certain of it, as well as Marvin tell us a little about you for us to discover the rest." Raven said.

"Never trust bellboys and lawyers." Redd said back at them. "That is my rule in life!"

"Oh, really?" Raven talks back at Redd. "Phoenix..."

Once Raven says it, Phoenix shows Redd his missing cuff-links on his desk.

"We found this lying in the room." said the defense lawyer. "I think 'don't worry, be happy' is unlikely to get you out of this."

Redd checks on the one missing cuff link that was remove from his suit on one side, he then being right.

"We got you right where we want you now, Redd..." Raven said to Redd.

"What is it that you two should be doing now? Investigating me? No, no, no. I think not. You two should be searching for the one who killed Miss Mia. Isn't that right?"

Redd had some nerve saying that to them and lie his way out of this mess, they didn't think so. This made both Phoenix and Raven just hearing him talk like this...

"You are absolutely right." said Phoenix. "And that is why we're here."

"Just what are you two insinuating?" Redd said to them.

As Phoenix told Redd on what he might've done to Mia when she was murder 'from a flashback', of course he was right about it for Raven knows as well as the rookie defense lawyer.

"Tell him like it is, Phoenix." Raven said to Phoenix.

"Mia was on to you. She was keeping tabs. For this reason you had April May tap her phone. Then Mia was murdered, and all the documents about you mysteriously disappeared. "

Meaning that Redd entering into Mia's office to seeing her, to killing her with the Thinker right into the head...And still, he lies his way through this whole thing to not admitting his guilt.

"So the culprit would be?" he asked.

Raven got mad to keep Redd where he is for Phoenix looks at him in saying that it was him being Mia's killer.

"Isn't it that hard to guess, Redd?" said Raven.

"Even a child could work it out! Right, Mr. White?" Phoenix said to the weirdo.

Just then Redd calls up someone from his phone meaning that it could be trouble for those two that's about to come next.

"Secretary's office." he said. "Tell the Chief Prosecutor that I'll testify tomorrow at the trial of for Mia Fey's murder. I'll give them some hot, hot information."

"[Certainly.]" said the servant.

Redd also had one more dirty trick up his sleeves to say.

"Oh, and call the police over at once, please!"

"[Certainly.]" the servant said again.

Both Phoenix and Raven didn't like the sound of this at all.

"Phoenix...?" Raven started to worry.

"What are you playing at?" ask Phoenix.

"Did I not tell you, Mr. Wrong and Ms. Raven?" said Redd. "You are a mere lawyer. As was Miss Mia..."

So he admits it to them!

"Then you really did kill her?!" Phoenix demanded Redd to answer him.

"Why...! YOU!" Raven got mad.

From the way that Redd was acting to them, he was going to pin the murder on Phoenix...As he grabs a knife to point it at Raven's back while straining her arm from behind to holding her down.

"Raven!" Phoenix panics to be worried about her. "Let her go!"

"Phoenix!" she was in trouble.

"No, it was you who did it. While you try to attack me next, this young lady however saw me trying to stop him, the poor girl. I'm only saving her the easy way, or the hard way..."

Not good for Phoenix leaving Raven to see him get arrested...

"You wouldn't-!"

"But I would, Ms. Raven." Redd said to Raven.

"But you're threatening me by using Raven as your hostage!"

Nothing that neither Phoenix or Raven can't do in getting out of this mess now.

"So you see, I'm going to point the finger at you and have you tried as Miss Mia's true killer! Unless you want me to pin you from me really killing your partner here and get away with it right now..."

He wasn't joking to having the knife pointing a bit deeper in Raven's hand. Phoenix begins to panic to have the love of his life to get hurt, Raven was in danger by Redd White.

"Wh-What?!" shock Phoenix.

"Phoenix..." Raven got scared.

Redd gives him the greedy smile, soon Gumshoe comes charging in by pushing the doors open to take care of the problem.

"Freeze!" said the detective. "This is the police, pal!"

Nice posing there, Gumshoe.

"Well done, Detective." said Redd while hiding the knife next to Raven to keep quiet about. "I present to you the man who killed Mia Fey."

This was very shocking to Gumshoe to hear.

"Wh-What? It was you? Kid?" he was confused.

Raven tries saying something for Redd force her to stay quiet as Phoenix tries explaining to Gumshoe himself.

"Believe me, Detective! I didn't-"

But Redd stops him there or he will stab Raven slowly.

"Oh, save that for when you're out of my sight, please."

"Wh-What in the world?" confused Gumshoe still.

"Go with him! Take him away. Farewell, Mr. Wrong."

Phoenix was now getting arrested leaving Raven behind to saving her life, for Gumshoe had no other choice but to listen on what Redd told him to do.

"Redd-" he argues.

Like a butterfly in a spider's trap alright...Once Redd let's go of Raven, she goes to Phoenix before Gumshoe could take him away since the boss of Bluecorp. got away with murder again.

"Raven, please. I'll go. Just give White a good word to word until tomorrow." he said.

"But you're getting arrested!" said Raven to be worried about Phoenix.

"Yeah, this isn't the first time you know."

"But why?"

"(Here's my chance. Please don't hate me for this but in case all else failsâ€¦)"

Phoenix kisses Raven on the lips quickly for he likes it and soon Raven was left speechless.

"Okay, pal." said Gumshoe. Let's go. Sorry about this, kid."

Gumshoe takes Phoenix away in hand cuffs and out of the office, and feeling bad to Raven for it was part of his job.

"Phoenix!" cried out Raven.

Redd then laughs for he was enjoying the show, but Raven wasn't for she was mad now.

"Such drama!" said the greedy man. "I loved it! Ms. Raven, if you don't want me to get Bobby to bring you back to your awful old job, I ask you to leave pretty please."

Raven was going to hurt him again but White stops her.

"Hold it. I will have you arrested on you harassing Bobby instead him doing that to you, I have the power in doing so. Don't make me."

"DAMN IT!"

Raven stops for she punches the wall instead, though hurting her own fists, she had to think of something fast.

"Admitting defeat now?"

"No! I'll defend Phoenix Wright tomorrow and stop you! For killing Mia and putting Maya so much on something she didn't do!"

"Excuse me?" he said in confusion.

"You heard me! I'll stop you and Bobby for this! That is if I win with my skills and Phoenix's abilities, you will admit defeat." she said to Redd.

Redd then smiles for Raven was getting somewhere with this.

"Oh, how do I like to play some games. I'll do it! But if I win...you'll admit defeat, work for me, leave that lawyer, and I'll destroy the false photos of Bobby thinking you're doing something wrong."

Again, he was blackmailing Raven this time as he was with Phoenix.

"You're kidding me!" Raven argued.

"Look. Be happy you can aid Mr. Wrong on this case against goodie old me. If you don't, then I'llâ€¦ Well, you get the point."

Raven had no choice for Bobby was in the other room watching this and getting his old co-worker right where he and White wanted her to be, a set up from the start. So she had no other choice.

"Fine! I'll do it."

"Excellent! I might drop the charges on your boyfriend when I win. Shake on it."

The two shake hands with each other for Raven was stuck now, just had things to use and show that White didn't find from her that she saved in time.

"Well, until tomorrow, Ms. Raven, sleep well. You're going to need it."

Redd closes the door on Raven for she had to do her part now.

"Phoenixâ€¦ Mayaâ€¦ What've I done?" she said to herself to be worrying now.

Later that night...The phone rings back at Edgeworth's place for him to answer from someone about the continuation of tomorrow's trial with some shocking news.

"This is Edgeworth." he answers it. "What? The defense attorney?"

News to Edgeworth alright that he has to go up against and prove Phoenix's guilt in court. He also remembers Raven being the only one left to aiding him...Back at the detention center for Maya was still in her cell - the guard then opens her door to be free now since Redd and Raven made a deal, at least she's innocent now.

"You're free to go." said the officer. "Get out. Now."

"O-Okay!" she said.

Once Maya got her shoes, she was finally free from jail, but with some more bad news than just hers...She sees Raven from way behind the officers, as the rest bring Phoenix in his new cell as Maya's replacement of false murder he didn't do.

"All right...Get in." the other officer said to him.

Phoenix looked upset, but as long as Raven was safe that's all that matter to him the most. Still a shocking surprise for Maya to be seeing this happening too.

"Huh? Raven, what's going on?" she asked to soon see Phoenix going into her cell. "Mr. Lawyer!"

Phoenix was in 'and what he said not being his first time either'...What can Maya and Raven do now, how will she prove that Redd killed Mia in court tomorrow, can they beat Edgeworth, arrest the true murder, free Phoenix as Maya got off by luck, and Raven to stopping that monster of the Bluecorp. and Bobby too? As Raven stays by Maya's side to also tell her what happened to soon be getting, this hacker murder mystery solver must do her best of saving Phoenix no matter what happens next. For she won't give up until she and Phoenix get the proof that they needed, for her being the lawyer to defend Phoenix Wright, maybe...

"(Phoenix, don't worry. I won't lose to Redd or Bobby, and won't leave your side. With Maya cheering us on, we have to do this for Mia's sake. We will solve this case yet!)" she said to herself.

With that, it all comes down to tomorrow on the second day of the trial. Once being Maya Fey's, to now changing it into Phoenix Wright's life was now on the line here...A well as Bobby, what was on his mind back at his office? Strange...He's not himself lately even what he heard from Bobby to be working for him for some odd reason. More to come later on.

Episode #4 - Turnabout Sisters: Last Trial

That sickening Redd White. Framing Phoenix Wright on a murder he didn't do, at the same timeâ€|Raven makes a bet with Redd in beating him in court to prove Phoenix's innocence against Edgeworth before he proves him guiltyâ€|For Maya Fey can support them in order to avenge Mia by working as a team, but will it be enough for Raven to try being a defense lawyer/hacking/murder with a dream? This won't be so easy to prove Redd being the real murder that's for sure â€" still Phoenix's life is on the line, as Raven's the same in not working with Redd if she tries to win, and Bobby stopped bothering her. The trial starts today with Phoenix saying the same old, same old.

"(The one who took Mia's life was Redd White, president of Bluecorp. Both Raven and I barged into his office for a face-to-face confrontation. But instead, I ended up getting arrested and accused of Mia's murder; leaving poor Raven to stand up against that man to saving my life or work for him if we loseâ€|Poor Raven.)"

Time: April 7, 9:52 AM

Location: District Court

In the other room, Phoenix gets his folders and paperwork out to be ready for anything with Raven by his side and Maya supporting them since she was free to go. But before that "Raven was ready to go and then bumping into Edgeworth down the hallways to bumping into each other, he sees the bruises on her arm done by Bobby who was already aware of that man.

"I didn't mean to-!"

"He doesn't have to do this to you anymore. Allow me to sue him." Edgeworth said to him.

"What?" she was lost.

"You heard me."

Raven got confused for Edgeworth hands over a card of his business for her to use for later on.

"I'll sue him for you; call me when you need me to."

This surprise Raven when Edgeworth said that to her.

"(Wait! He's talking about Bobby, right? How does he know that? And why help me out? I don't get it.)"

Very strange there! Edgeworth gets his things in going back to being himself for some reason. Raven then goes to meet up with Phoenix and Maya waiting for her to going inside the courtroom any minute now.

"Raven." Maya said.

"Sorry I'm late, Phoenix. How are you feeling?" she asks him.

"I'm hanging in there whenever you're ready like I am on this case. We will beat White together. (No way will I allow him to have her to himself. Sicko.)"

Raven was ready for this to aiding Phoenix and stopping Redd for good, from her laptop skills and hard thinking to having many clues to put together into one.

"You bet I am. Phoenix, we'll get you out of this mess."

Still, there's one problem on that part for those two!

"Wait, wait, wait!" Maya speaks up. "You don't have a lawyer, Mr. Lawyer?!"

"White must've thrown his weight around." said Phoenix. "Anyway, court will be in session soon."

"He's right."

With Phoenix checking the time on his watch, there was no time to lose.

"B-Butâ€|"

Phoenix gets up from the couch for he has something in mind that not even Maya or Raven don't know about yet, so what is itâ€|?

"It's okay. I've got an idea for Raven to know about too."

"That's right, Mayaâ€|" Raven stopped talking to not knowing what it was. "Wait, what?"

"Don't worry, Raven, you'll know soon enough. One way or another, this case will be decided today."

And for that, Raven goes along with it for Phoenix's sake as Maya does too, for she smiles and nodded at him.

"Yeah." She said.

Inside of the court room they go â€" for Phoenix was ready on his end 'and whatever his idea was on who was defending him', Maya, and Raven were y his side, as Edgeworth was ready on his end, the juries, and the Judge.

Time: April, 10 PM

Location: District Court â€" Courtroom No. 1

*ALL RISE! *

Once the Judge hits his gavel, it gets everyone's attention for the to be silence for the trial to begin.

"Well then." Spoke the Judge. "Since court was adjourned yesterday, it seems things have drastically changed due to the prosecution's findings. Correct?"

Edgeworth nodded a yes to the Judge for he was right about that part.

"We believed the victim was murdered by her sister Maya and indicted her. But yesterday's emergence of a new witness and new evidence highlights the one we believe to be the true culprit! The suspect is Phoenix Wright, the attorney standing over there."

"(Damn it, Edgeworth, what gives?)" Raven questioned herself.

He just had to point at Phoenix in saying that to him. Everyone all over the room listen in to start mumbling all over the room, even the Judge was surprise.

"This is truly shocking. The original suspect's attorney was the real culprit all along?"

"While it may be unprecedented, the prosecution seeks to prove the guilt of Phoenix Wright, the defense attorney."

Or so Edgeworth say to make Phoenix the guilty one, then the Judge ask this next question.

"But thenâ€|Who, exactly, will defend him?"

That's when Phoenix says it as part of his plan, and by holding Raven's hand to surprise her on who was defending him beside being a lawyer still.

"Don't worry." He answers. "I will still be a lawyer in this case, but Raven Strides here will be defending me with my end."

This was something big for Raven to be hearing this.

"WHAT!?" she freaks out. "ME?!"

All that Phoenix did was smile at her.

"I can't do this without your help, Raven. Please help me."

"Wh-What?!" shock the Judge as well.

Raven hearing this whole thing loud and clear, as she checks the rules of the court trial from her laptop to say for everyone to hear.

"(Hey, he's right. Two people can defend anyone as a teamâ€|)" said Raven to be speaking up next. "I checked the rules, we're good. It says that anyone an expert or a newbie may have anyone with skills like them to aid them in court. As for me to hack into anything is allow for any murder case to being solve like myself. If Phoenix will allow me to defend him as he'll do his work too, then count me in. I'll do it."

She shows the rules in words on the big screen for everyone else to see it, Raven was right.

"Raven dreams in being a lawyer like I am too. (Thank you, Raven, I knew I can count on you.)" Said Phoenix. "Your Honor, the defense Phoenix Wright, is ready!"

Raven raises her hand up.

"Times two as well, Your Honor!"

Phoenix says it like it is with his head held high to be ready for anything, and Raven was too. This made Edgeworth have a smile on his face. Really?

"Nice. That's the way. Me against both Wright and his partner, this should be fun." He said.

The Judge uses his gavel again to accept the terms and begins.

"You may begin, Mr. Edgeworth."

Edgeworth nods to be ready to speak up first as he rises his hand up, to placing it near his face.

"Without further ado, let the witness who saw Phoenix Wright commit the murder take the stand!"

And there entered in the courtroom was the greedy liar being Redd White himself about to try lying his way to proving Phoenix's guilt and make Raven work for him if he wins. From smiling too much, glittering all over with shining things on him, and being a show up in front of everyone right now. Beat him, you guys!

Bluecorp. President " Redd White

Redd winks at Raven, for he'll learn his plan to stop him and defend Phoenix.

"Why you-! (Okay, Raven, you can do this. Phoenix needs you as you need to defend him. Just do what you always do. And I will too! So bring it on!)"

Redd introduces himself.

"My name is Redd White. But my friends call me Blanco Nino." He said. "I am the CEO, or to use a more common term, the President, of Bluecorp."

Edgeworth begins asking that weirdo some questions.

"Allow me to ask you this first: have you ever visited the Fey & Co. Law Offices, the scene of the crime?"

"That would be a negatory! No, I have not." Answered Redd.

"The night of the murder, you were at the Gatewater Hotel. Is that correct?" asked Edgeworth

"Yes."

This wasn't good at all for Edgeworth to be hearing everything that Redd wanted to say.

"And you witness the murder from there?"

"Uh-huh. I see you've done your homework."

Phoenix had something to say about that.

"Seriously?" Raven didn't like hearing this from Redd.

"Wait a second!" Phoenix objects to this matter too.

Redd makes Phoenix a bigger fool at him again.

"What is it, Mister Criminal?"

"Yesterday's witness, Ms. April May, was in the same room that night."

Raven remembers since the Bellboy told the two about Redd was in the room with April together on that night Mia was murdered.

"That's right!" said Raven. "Bellboy of the Gatewater Hotel said that he seen you at the hotel of the same room with April May herself. Phoenix's right on what he said."

Redd remembers that part too well but again he lies about it.

"Oh, Miss Wiretapper? She didn't say a word about seeing me at the crime scene! Well, she's one lying missâ€|That's why I'm here to reveal the truth to save Ms. Strides from her terrible faith, Mister Murdered."

Not good for Phoenix to be hearing this to go down without a fight with Raven by his side, the Judge says to the two lawyers on what they need to do next.

"You may begin your testimony."

"Okay!" said Redd. "I hope you're made your peace, Mister Spiky Criminal."

Really? Redd had to call Phoenix more nicknames base form his hair style.

"REALLY!?" argue Raven. "What does Phoenix's hair have anything to do with accusing him in being a murdered?! Which he isn't!"

Phoenix thinks of the same thing too from feeling out his hair.

"Having spiky hair isn't a crime." He said.

Maya hates Redd already to tell the two to set up their game right away.

"Let's shut that smirky, shiny scumbag up!"

"Maya, I couldn't agree with you more there. Let's go!" said Raven all ready to go.

Time to hear out Redd's made up lie to soon be cross-examination next, this should be fun. Not.

Witness Testimony

Here what Redd's point of view was 'in his word' on what happened the night Mia was murder â€" being a liar about it on what April and him seeing it all happen until he used that dumb woman. From what they were staying at the hotel reading to hearing and seeing it all happen of Phoenix killing Mia from across the other building.

"Let's see. It was about 9:00 PM, I believe. I was perusifyingâ€| or 'reading' some papers by the window. Then I heard a bedlam coming from outside! Crash!"

Redd got shaky when he heard a crashing sound.

"What?" he said. "What's going on?"

He looked from the window to see and tells the rest of his so called story.

"It was then I saw him: a spiky-haired man attacking a woman with long hair!"

Saying that he was watching Phoenix fighting with Mia in the office, for that woman to saving her life from being attacked as April checks it out with Redd too. He so full of himselfâ€|

"What was that noise?" April asks Redd.

Then Phoenix 'or so Redd's words were saying' saw him using the Thinker to kill Mia right to the head really hard, for a horrifying sight.

"Terrible impaction! Then it was all over."

Leaving April screaming and Redd in terror from seeing the whole thing. Oh, brotherâ€|!

"My God!" he said in fear he was in.

And for that was Redd's so call 'testimony' that he said there. From that, Raven gets to work on her laptop to hacking into the man's background, the clues to put together, and so much more without giving up.

"(Is that so, Mr. Smarty-Pants? Well, you don't know who you're messing with here. Watch what I can do.)" she said.

It begins for her, as Redd smiles after telling his side of the story to everyone.

"I could never mistake that spiky hair."

Not good for Phoenix to be hearing this, as Raven was working hard on her end and Maya stands up for him.

"Noâ€|That can't be true!" she said. "I mean-!"

But the Judge hits the gavel before Maya could finish.

"That certainly was conclusive testimony."

Phoenix begins to panic for Raven had to do something, he did have her to help defend the rookie lawyer after all.

"(Phoenixâ€|! I won't back down from Redd.)" said Raven quietly in worrying.

"(It's almost like they're reading off a script.)" said Phoenix.
"(Everything's proceeding too smoothly toward my conviction.)"

Give it everything that you two have got, Phoenix and Raven!

"Now, defense and Ms. Strides, both of your cross-examination." The Judge said to them.

"Yes, Your Honor." He said to saying something to Raven next. "Get ready, Raven, because here we go."

"Yep!" Raven said to Phoenix. "(Time to put the pieces togetherâ€|From the murder weapon, to Mia investigating Redd, Maya's name written in blood on a piece of paper of some receipt, to scene of the crime such as the corpse, the mess, some lap post lighting up after it fell and broke into tiny pieces, and the time of Mia's deathâ€¦Now, if I can just add them up, I hope to get something out of it.)"

There goes Raven on her work as she and Phoenix and Edgeworth against were ready to cross-examined with Redd, for bad to worse â€" they will win this.

Cross-Examination

From the timing on what Redd said when Mia was murder, was he right about it or lying 'as always' again? Raven tries adding up when Mia was killed to asking Redd about it next.

"Umâ€¦Got something, Raven?" ask Phoenix.

"I think I do." She answered to asking Redd this question. "Okay, are you sure about the time?"

"I am always abso-posi-lutely perfect." He answers back. "At 9 PM, I was startled by hearing that thing fall and looked at the window across the way."

Raven had something there for Phoenix to ask this next question to Redd.

"You heard 'that thing fall'? What thing?"

"Umâ€¦Right, the glass light stands!" Redd said to mocking Phoenix again. "You compendrestand?"

Raven shows it to Phoenix from the floor plans from her computer.

"That she did have a lamp stand in the office that night she was killed, right there."

She marks it on the right spot as it said it was.

"Yeah, you're right, Raven. It does seem to have fallen over." Said Phoenix.

With that so being true 'in Redd's words', Edgeworth finds that part to be nothing to the point of the case at all.

"Then his testimony contains no contradiction."

"HEY! I'M WORKING ON IT!" Raven complains at Edgeworth. "Can't wait for me to think for a few minutes or less?"

So now whatâ€¦? Soon Maya notice something from the floor plan thing that had something to do with the lamp stands that Mia had, something very important for her to say it to Phoenix and Raven about it right away.

"Waitâ€¦" she said. "That's odd! If I heard it fall and only then looked at the window, he couldn't have known what it was! It broke into pieces when it fell!"

Raven does her part to know that Maya was right about the whole thing.

"Phoenix, she's right. Use it." She said to him.

"Of courseâ€¦|Then how did he know about the light stand?" said Phoenix. "He said he'd never visited the crime sceneâ€¦|"

Now that the three thought about it, Phoenix and Raven were on to something from Redd thanks to Maya's good advice that she given them, being a very big one too.

"Raven, you're amazing! Thanks!"

"Then let's do it as the team we are." She said to shouting out in court. "*GOT YOU NOW! *"

With the three staring at Redd once they found their answer they've been looking for, he begins to panic at the point where Raven objects to the matter at hand. Begins to sweat, with a fake smile, and talk funny all of a sudden.

"R-R-Remove all of your impertinent gazes from me!" Redd started to freak out. "It was visible through the hotel window. I saw it before it fell over!"

Edgeworth acted like that it wasn't important either, part of a prosecutor's job here is what it is.

"So there were no contradictions, after all." Edgeworth said to see the whole thing being pointless.

But Phoenix and Raven double checks the floor plans again to tell Redd the liar he really wasâ€¦|

"*OBJECTION! *" Phoenix said to joining with Raven too.

Once Raven said it first to Phoenix as well 'to pointing his finger out', Redd was afraid to being caught to act like what the problem was, for he knows what it was alright.

"What is the problemo?" he asks.

"Oh, pleaseâ€¦|" Raven said. "The big problemo is that your testimony contains total contradiction!"

"S-Say what?"

Raven shows it on the big screen, and then Phoenix to show the evidence to present being the floor plans to Redd.

"Check it!"

"She's rightâ€¦|Look at this." Said Phoenix.

The two got up for Raven shows the details better from her laptop to everyone else.

"If you were to look at the window office from the hotel window, this is the area you would able to see. Right at this spot."

Once Raven showed where the lamp fell down to showing the body of Mia, it all makes sense there.

"Well? Note that the stand is not within the visible area!" Phoenix explains the rest.

Redd forgot about that to be freaking out even more.

"On the night of the murder, the light stand was only visible from here," explained Raven to pointing out. "inside of Fey & CO. Law Offices!"

Edgeworth was just watching this to not saying anything at all yet, so unlike him.

"That means you were at the scene of the crime when the stand fell!" said Phoenix. "When the murder took place!"

Once the two defense lawyers 'well one in half' said that, Redd was really scared now.

"What?!" he panics.

It was true! Mia was running away from Redd chasing after her in the office to run into the light stand for it to fall down and break if it still on the floor. Along with the computer being knock down, Redd grabbing the Thinker 'to being a weapon twice now, and him killing her to the head in seconds for the light to fall right there.

"Please, White!" Raven said to him. "Like you'll lie your way out of this one this time."

"There is only one conclusion to be drawn from this, Mr. White!" and Phoenix too. "You saw the light stand fall when you struck the victim with the murder weapon. You are the one who killed Mia Fey."

"That's right!" Raven speaks out loud. "The true culprit! You did it, didn't you?"

From Redd looking scared, panicking, sweating, his eyes waded in shock, and now losing it because of Raven and Phoenix proving to everyone that he's really the killer of Mia Fey.

"A-Accursed attorney! And Ms. Strides too!"

But before they could celebrate, Edgeworth says something to changes around again.

"*HOLD IT! *" he said to saying something to Redd as a reminder. "I think the time has come for you to confess your crime, witness!"

"Wh-What?" confused Redd.

This was Phoenix and Raven's change to make Redd confess, or so they thought.

"Confess time!" Raven said out loud.

"Yes, confess to the murder-!"

But again, Edgeworth hits his hands on the table 'before Phoenix could finish talking' to say something else about it instead for Redd to do

"What in the world are you two talking about?" he said to them. "The crime I advocate confessing to is this."

Edgeworth then shows the wiretapping that was found at the hotel and at Mia's officeâ€|Not good at all to surprise both Raven and Phoenix there.

"Oh noâ€| No! I forgot about that! Redd has it and I got the information about it! I bet Bobby told him all about my work. (Damn them both!)" Raven started to worried.

"Isn't that the wiretap that was placed on the phone at the crime scene?" the Judge asked.

But Phoenix tries object to the matter right away.

"*OBJECTION! *" he said. "But April May already admitted to eavesdropping on the calls yesterday!"

"That's right, she did completely!" Raven said as well.

Still, Edgeworth had something else to say with it to change things around, from better to worse, and far worse to come. To saving Redd to get away with it.

"I agree with you both, but listen to this theory. The question isn't who was listening in, but when this wiretap was placed in the office by whom." Edgeworth continues. "Whoever did it sneaked into the Fey & Co. Law Offices beforehand. And naturally, they would have seen it thenâ€|The glass stands at the scene."

Not good for Maya to be hearing all of this and what's worse, Raven didn't have anything to change things around nor did Phoenix either.

"If that beautiful stand were etched in their memory, then on the night of the murder, that's the first thing they would think of upon hearing the crash."

Once Edgeworth said that part and bad news to both Phoenix and Raven to notice too, Redd laughs with joy for he got away with it but a small crime again. Without proof of him being the murderer of Mia. This was really bad.

"Yes! You are most correct, Mister Prosecutor!" he said to be glittering up again. "I was a bad, bad boy. I tried to scapegoat that kitten."

"What do you mean?" ask the Judge.

"I was the one who placed the wiretap!" Red confess on one thing he can get away from. "And to do it, I broke â€" waltzed â€" into the Fey & Co. Law Offices."

Again, this was really bad.

"Y-You what?" shock Phoenix.

"Crap!" Raven freaks out like Maya was too. "If only I had another evidences on me, so how can we now?!"

Redd lies again as part of Edgeworth's plan.

"I remember it all now. That was when I saw that beautiful glass stand!"

"That means there is nothing wrong with the witness knowing about the stand!" Edgeworth said. "(Thus, the defense's and his partner baseless conjecture has come crashing downâ€¦)"

Now that Phoenix and Raven both think about it, the light stand did fall down and break that explains it all. With Raven scared and Phoenix soon was about to lose to let out a big scream in the court room to soon be proven guilty. Can they really win this against Edgeworth and prove that Redd did it one way or another? The Judge hits his gavel again to calm everyone down from them shouting and complaining about the unaccepting news.

"Order! Order in the court!" said the Judge to ask Redd this question. "You mean to say that you realized the crash you heard was the light stand falling over because you'd seen it back then you sneaked into the office?"

"Yes, I do." Redd said to be glittering all over again. "That's exactly right, Mister Judge."

Edgeworth's plan was going well to winning the case yet.

"He will be tried for that on a later date." He nods at the Judge.

"I understand. It seems there is no problem with his testimony about the night of the murder."

Phoenix and Raven had to think of something quickly.

"No! Phoenix!" Raven said to him.

"(Not goodâ€¦!) P-Please wait!" Phoenix tries speaking up.

Lucky for the Judge, he'll listen to themâ€¦

"What now?" he asked.

Raven had to say it while she and Phoenix can still win the case quickly.

"The defense lawyer Phoenix or I aren't done with its cross-examination!" said Raven.

However, Edgeworth had a smirk on his face to make the two worried even more.

"(Damn it, Raven and I can't let him get away with this!)" Phoenix said. "Raven, try asking White some questions. We can find something to make him confess."

"Ah, manâ€¦I'll try to, Phoenixâ€¦" she said.

Looks like they're still going at it for Maya to keep rooting for them all the way through.

"Good luck, Mr. Lawyer and Raven."

And soâ€¦The asking questions from Redd for Raven and Phoenix to do as a team, I guess it begins with any luck.

"Okayâ€¦When did you place the wiretap?" Raven asks Redd.

"I think it was toward the end of March, so around two week ago." He answers back.

Then Phoenix asks Redd this next question.

"Do you have proof?"

Then Edgeworth says this next part to answer back.

"April May knew the details of the victim's phone conversation, so it was there before the murder." He said.

"Oh, I see." Said the Judge.

So much for that part, here comes the next questionâ€¦

"Were you really the one who placed the wiretap?" Raven asked again.

And of course he says this to her.

"Of course. Ask Miss May about it."

"Unidentified fingerprints, several days old, were found at the scene." Said Edgeworth. "They probably belonged to the witness."

"But Phoenix is innocent!" Raven said to the prosecutor.

"(Edgeworth was hiding that those fingerprints were discovered.)" Phoenix said to be worried even more.

And now the next question for Raven and Phoenix to say to Redd without giving up.

"Why did you tap Mia's phone?!"

But again Edgeworth objects to this.

"*OBJECTION! *" he said. "That has no bearing on the current case."

"Bluecorp has a responsibility to protect client confidentially." Redd said.

This wasn't going well for them at all here.

"Phoenix. I wish there was another way, I really doâ€|" Raven said to him.

"(Not good, Raven's stuck. And I don't even have anything to press him on.)" said Phoenix.

With so many typing to find for Raven without finding anything on her end, same with Phoenix who was trying so hard to find something within the papers, but no luckâ€|Maya had a really bad feeling about this in losing the case. If they lose, Phoenix will go to jail for a while, but even worse is Raven will be working for Redd for now on.

"Mr. Lawyerâ€|Ravenâ€|" she said in being sad.

"No!" Phoenix said. "(Damn it! There's nothing there for me to press him on! Uh oh! Don't tell me I've run out of ammo! Poor Raven, she really looks upset.)"

Raven and Phoenix got upset, as Edgeworth tells them that they couldn't win against him even though they did try to.

"I'm afraid this is as a you two go. You fought...honorably. But both you and your woman are done for. For a rank amateur, times two."

"I think we're done for. Edgeworth's right for once. Phoenix?" said Raven. "Phoenix. I wish there was another way, I really doâ€|"

"(Is this the end?)" worried Phoenix. "(No more... Raven, I'm so sorryâ€| I can't save you.)"

All hope was about to be loss for them, Maya soon begins to chant and saying strange words. But those words her necklace begins to glow upâ€|

"It seems as though that's that." The Judge said.

From that for Raven putting her head down in being upset and Phoenix losing his papers all over the floor, Redd celebrates in getting away once again.

"The end!" he said. "Raven will be working for me now. Andâ€|It was fun, Mister Attorney!"

Again, what a show off in laughing about this for Phoenix was about to give himself up for Raven's sake 'even though he doesn't want his crush to be with Redd'.

"The defense ends its cross-!"

Before Phoenix could say it, someone speaks up to him and Raven that sounded familiar to them.

"Wrightâ€|Ravenâ€|" she said. "Wright!"

Was it Maya? It didn't sound like it, but Mia knowing that she was dead. The two turn around to see that Maya called upon Mia's spirit to aid them being her in Maya's body all grown up-like 'with her breasts still being big'. Shocking, ain't it?

"It can't be! Mia!?" surprised Raven.

"Mia" I mean, Chief?!" Phoenix was just speechless on his end.

But Mia calms Phoenix down for Raven to listen in.

"Shh." She said. "It appears that the desperate desire to save you and Raven has awakened her powers."

Meaning that Maya's training has really paid off for it to work.

"Really? That would make sense I guess!" Raven said to 'kind of' understand the whole thing.

"S-So Maya is channeling you?" Phoenix asks him.

"That's right." She said to them. "I am Maya. But right now, I'm Mia. Listen to me, you two. Maya never gave up. That's why I'm here. So neither you, Wright or you Raven, can't either."

We get what Mia was saying to them in not giving up, however she knows that they got this win for she knows what they have in proving that Redd was the murderer. But what did she have in mind that they didn't know about?

"B-But!" Phoenix was lost.

"Okay? But the question is this, how can we prove Redd's the killer? We tried everything." Raven asks Mia.

"Listen. You two have already won."

This was really big news for them to be hearing coming from Mia! All that Phoenix and Raven had on their mind was like 'say what?' But "remember the paper with Maya's name written on there in blood being the receipt? It's important.

"A receipt is among the evidence, right?" she asks them.

Phoenix finds it to show it to Mia.

"The one you wrote 'Maya' on?" Phoenix asks her.

"Yeah, written in blood made from! No way! (Why didn't I see this before!?)"

Raven then figures something out once she sees it from the other side, for Phoenix needed to know what she was thinking about.

"Raven?"

"Silly." Mia said to him. "Raven's on to something there. White wrote that, obviously! Anyway, take another look at that receipt."

From the back of Maya's name written in blood by Redd's doing, but from the front side had the receipt on what it said on what Mia bought when on what day. Phoenix looks at it while Raven scans it on her laptop to confirm it for sure meaning it isâ€|From the name of the store, price 'being $26,000 Yen, the day Mia bought it, and what the item was'.

"What about this receipt?" Phoenix wonders.

"Let's seeâ€|It says the store name being, Chiyodaya receipt on April the 2nd. Antique Glass Light Stand... The day before the murder! That's it!"

Phoenix sees the date and Raven was right about it all, for Mia knew that they would find out.

"Seems that you two have got it." She said.

The Judge was about to end the trial if he hits the gavel again.

"With this, the trial is concluded, I shall now declare the verdict -!"

This was Phoenix and Raven's chance to finally show some proof quickly.

"Do it, Raven." Phoenix said to her.

"No, we do it together and then I'll say itâ€|On three." She said.

And so they say it together.

"*HOLD IT! *" they said.

With that, Raven puts everything up on the big screen for everyone to see the receipt again for Phoenix to go up next to it as she explains the rest.

"See the word 'Maya' written in blood...?" Phoenix said.
"Raven."

"Right." She goes next using her hacking skills. "One last thing that we have, please. Just look at this."

Raven pops up the written word of Maya on it in blood, for Redd finds this whole thing to be pointlessâ€|Or so he and Edgeworth thought of.

"It's too late." He said.

"At this point, that is meaningless." Edgeworth said.

Not to Phoenix or Raven didn't think soâ€|

"But this is the back." Said Raven.

"What?" shock Edgeworth.

"Wellâ€¦The front of this is what matters. Look. This is the receipt!"

Raven turns the paper over from front to back to show the light stand that Mia bought and on what day. A big shocker to Redd here to freak out about this again.

"A receipt?" he said to being worried again. "For what?"

"Oh, Your Honorâ€¦Have a look at it, would you?" Raven said to him.

"It saysâ€¦'Antique glass light stand?' Is this true?" he said.

From there it shocks the Judge, Edgeworth, Redd, and everyone else in the courtroom. Once Raven show enough evidences, Phoenix says the rest.

"That stand that fell over and broke during the murder. Your Honor, what's the date of purchase?"

So the Judge reads it to them.

"Um, April 2â€¦"

Then he screams for he found out that it was important indeed.

"*BINGO! *" said Raven. "Yep, April 2. The day before the murder!"

This was shocking to Edgeworth about it too.

"Th-The day before?" he said.

Also shocking to Redd to with his mouth wide open, for Phoenix slams his hands on the tale to saying the rest with Raven too.

"So, when you allegedly entered Fey & Co. Law Offices at the end of March, the stand could not have been there!"

"It can't beâ€¦" shock Redd.

From there, Phoenix and Raven says it like it is for Redd not to get away this time, as well as breaking the forth well almost to pushing him to it. Ha! Pricelessâ€¦

"Lie as much as you want, but you can't get out of this one!" Phoenix said.

"Admit your guilt and lie here and now, you big faker!" and Raven too.

Leaving Redd to get lost in words to scream out loud.

"Wh-What?!" he said to be hitting head on the table a lot to thought he would've won. "Wh-Wh-What?!"

Looks like they got Redd now.

"Your Honor," Phoenix said to the Judge. "do you still intend to declare me guilty?!"

For him to be looking at both Phoenix and Raven to proving their point, Redd got up to not give up without a fight. Stubborn, isn't he?

"Never!" said Redd. "I'll never accept this! The spiky-head there did it-!"

Soon Edgeworth says something about this matter yet again, to delay for another day again.

"*HOLD IT! *" he said. "Your Honor, the prosecution requests the trial be extended one more day."

"Huh?" the Judge was confused.

"We would like to perform another inquiry and submit new evidence."

Another way to delay into winning the murder case for Edgeworth to do, Phoenix and Raven had to end this right here and now! Mia knows that they can do it.

"Seriously?" Raven begin to worry again.

"Don't let them get away. You must settle things, here and now." Said Mia.

"Y-Yeah, but how?" Phoenix wonders.

Mia thought of something for Raven hands her a piece of paper and a pen to write something down quickly to make Redd confess.

"Raven? Did someone tell you about me investigating White?"

"Ah! Oh, right. Marvin Grossberg did." She said to Mia.

"Perfect." She writes the rest down to tell this to Raven next once she sees it. "Look up the names on what happen by White and Bobby's doing, right away."

"On it." Said Raven.

Raven begins looking up the hidden blackmailing list from Bobby's email to get everything down in time, before the Judge could end the cross-examination. Hurry up, Mia!

"Very well." Said the Judge. "This trial will be extended till tomorrow."

Not good for Phoenix to hear about if Mia or Raven weren't done on their search on something!

"N-No way!"

That gives Redd the queue to leave the court room in winning.

"Ha! I win and Raven will be working with me first day tomorrow!" he said to raising his hand up. "I mean what a farce. I refuse to testify further. Good-bye forever, ladies and gentlemen!"

Before Redd could leave, Raven found what she was looking for leaving Mia to throw the piece of written paper on it at the man to see.

"Not so fast!" she said.

Redd turns around to get the paper right into his face.

"Wh-What is this?" he asked.

"You wish to know, Redd? Read it and find out for yourself." Raven said to him.

"(Is that what Mia was just scribbling?)" Phoenix wondered.

Edgeworth was confused leaving Redd's entire face to turn all blue all of a sudden once he started reading the writing from Mia.

"I-Impossible." He said in freaking out. What's this list?"

"Oh, I'm sorry. You know what it is, right? Then let me read out some hints to you!" Raven says it like it is. "One man killing himself from his life being ruined for cheating on a wife for being famous! A model thought she was too fat to getting out to puke herself to death! A sport star didn't want to get expose to using steroids to win, by ending his life from an overdose! I can just go on and on here, that is if it wasn't for Bobby's email I can hack into thanks to him, and by a little spirit told me the rest that you ended. Isn't that right, Mia Fey?"

Mia gets serious now since they discover that Redd was really afraid of ghosts.

"For some parts like those that Raven just said, the rest are list of business, politicians, and celebrities you've blackmailed."

Redd didn't get it at all to being real, but it was leaving Bobby to be freaking out while watching this whole thing from the seating's.

"Why is this here?" Redd panic. "I disposed of this last night."

Got you now, Redd White!

"I'm sorry, but didn't you just say 'I disposed of this last night?' You did, didn't you?" Raven said. "So you did kill Mia after all."

He looks at Bobby to help him get out of this mess, not this time. He gets arrested, or the cops try to.

"Oops. Sorry, White. I've been caught." Said Bobby.

He makes a run for it as Gumshoe chases him all over town, man on the run for aiding Redd like April did too in doing something illegal. Bobby will be found soon, can't hide forever and leaving Mia's eyes to scare the crap out of Bobby for sure.

"If it were released to the media, I wonder what happen to you." Mia said to the greedy man to point at her head. "That list is etched in my memory here. Want me to read the names to you? Raven gave you some hints, so allow me to say the names to say at least in being nice here. First, the minister of justiceâ€¦"

But Redd loses it to be screaming out loud thereâ€¦|

[illegible]

Then there was silence in the room for Redd begins to cry in fear.

"Face it, Redd, you lost. Bobby and you been working together for a long time. From blackmailing Grossberg, killing Mia who was trying to stop it, used April, and blackmailing me to get rid of Phoenixâ€¦ You make me sick. Though Bobby fled, we will find him next. As for you, a rather lose my money than end up working with the likes of you." Raven said to Redd to stand up for herself now against the man.

Redd begins to confess for his crimes too.

"Anything but that, please!" he said to be begging.

Shocking to Phoenix, Edgeworth, the Judge, and everyone else in the room "Raven and Phoenix have won this case for Mia's spirit to this through.

"Th-Thenâ€¦" Phoenix was speechless.

"I confessâ€¦I confess..." said Redd. "Iâ€¦Iâ€¦"

Redd finally tells his reasons and a flashback on why he killed Mia Fey on that night.

"I put the pieces together to know what went downâ€¦" Raven said to putting the pieces together to knowing what really happened.

Full Story

Whatever it was that Mia was going to use in court to suing Redd White and his company was big 'that had something to do with her and Maya's past too', though that part will had to come around later onâ€¦She had the evidences to hide the names of the people who were being blackmailed to save with enough evidences in doing so â€" to hiding it all in the Thinker that Larry made the second one in giving to her; after by the light stand on that day in her office, calling up Maya, telling Phoenix and Raven to meet them for dinner that night, and notices Redd was on to her. You know...Staying near at the Gatewater Hotel for April tap wiring the office for Bellboy help them out to seeing them, Redd makes a move against Mia to end her life to getting what he needed in her office.

"Now, hand over that list!" Redd said to Mia.

Redd creepy-like approaches Mia for her to be trap by this man waiting to kill her if she makes a move. She makes a run for it in her office to the other side, as she runs to her desk to knocking down her computer on the ground; wearing gloves for Redd grabs hold of the Thinker from the table to corner Mia near the window of the hotel from across the streets with nowhere else to escape this mess up man. Slowly going up to her, knocking over her nee light stand to fall and break all over the floorâ€|Redd strikes at Mia right to the head as she sees the greedy smile of evil on the man's face to meet her un-timing end in seconds. Once he ended Mia's life 'where Maya, and then both Phoenix and Raven found her there', Redd takes the list of names that he threatens out of the Thinker being empty when she removes the clock parts, and without knowing about using the receipt as a paper to write Maya's name down from hearing her on the phone in Mia's blood to look like it was her doing. End of flashbackâ€|

"And there you have it, Your Honor." Raven said to the Judge. "I rest my case."

Redd admits it all that he said from the flashback alright.

"I did it. I hit her. I hit Miss Mia with "The Thinker"! ... Just leave me alone! I'm sorry!"

"Arrest that man for assaulting a witness of the defenses and blackmailing many innocent people to first degree murder!" said the Judge.

Redd begins to cry for he gets arrested by the police to be taken away within seconds. With Mia and Raven having enough proof to winning to Phoenix's surprise to saving his life, leaving poor Edgeworth to lose for the first time against the two to be freaking out again. Nice faceâ€|Mia could only do was to sigh with receive to saving both of Phoenix and Maya's innocence in time.

"Wright. Raven." she said to Phoenix.

"Say it. I didâ€|" Raven gives the sign.

So Phoenix says his part like Raven did since they've proven Redd White was Mia's murderer in the end.

"As what Raven said there, the defense also rests its case too, Your Honor!"

With that, the murder case has been solved for Judge to wrap things up on the verdict part nextâ€|Also Bobby Poster was on the run, so he'll be a while to find.

"Well, I guess Mr. Poster's on the run. I'm short for this madness to happen to you the most, Ms. Strides." The Judge said to her.

Raven knows that Bobby won't get away with this at all like Redd almost did.

"I'll be fine. I might be a woman but I'm no weakening who can do more than hacking skills and solving cases. (I'm just glad it's all over so far.)"

"We'll keep our eyes open on Bobby to be question and arrested later on then. Be happy that Mr. Wright has proven his innocence indeed in the end with your help. Nowâ€¦I shall hereby hand down the verdicts for Ms. Maya Fey and defense lawyer attorney Mr. Phoenix Wright. Not guilty!"

NOT GUILTY

With that, everyone cheers for Maya was 'of course innocent' and so was Phoenix too, for Mia was happy and Raven was jumping in air fill with joy of winning the case as a team and with her skills in the end. Good choice there, Phoenix. Sorry, Edgeworth, better luck next time. Maybeâ€¦Then Phoenix and Raven hugged it out with joy.

"We did it, Raven!" said Phoenix.

"We did it together. I'm just glad you're safe."

Raven was sweet around Phoenix there, a cute scene for them.

"(Wowâ€¦! She hugged meâ€¦)"

Phoenix goes lovey-dovey on Raven for him to fall to his knees for Mia to catch him again.

"Aw, you two make such a cute couple." She said.

Raven laughs 'in a good way' as Mia and Phoenix both smiled at each other on another job well done, the Judge the says something to the defense lawyer to come two again to reality.

"A spirited defense, Mr. Wright."

"Oh, I just got lucky. Both Raven and I do, don't know what I do without her." Phoenix said to be shy about his fine work. "(If you only knew how 'spirited' it was.)"

"Is what we do best." Said Raven.

It's best for not everyone to know about Maya's powers and all for nowâ€¦The Judge then asks Mia a question, 'without him knowing it was Maya to him'.

"By the wayâ€¦Ms. Maya Fey? Why do I get the feeling you have a totally different aura about you?"

Phoenix and Raven were afraid for the Judge not believing in them on Mia controlling Maya's body, but she just says this to him with a smile on her face.

"Just your imagination, Your Honor." She said.

Leaving the Judge to turn all red all over his face.

"I-Is that so?" he said.

To them, a close call there. For Phoenix and Raven have done another fine job today from winning their second case. With Raven still doing her part, Phoenix looking up to help those in need of their innocence, and Edgeworth looking at them to see that together they make a tough rivalry to be beaten. What does he know about Bobby Poster that Raven doesn't know more about him or Redd? Well, for now I guess of this, court is now adjournedâ€¦

CASE CLOSED

Another job well doneâ€¦As Phoenix and Raven just sitting outside of the courtroom now to talk to Mia a bit more, this was Phoenix's chance to tell Raven his feelings towards her to being his girlfriend since she did save his life in trial today. Mia nudges him to saying it already.

"Go ahead, Wright, say it."

"Huh? Oh, yeah!" Phoenix said to getting ready to talk to Raven sitting next to him. "(This is my chance! Don't blow this!) Ahâ€¦Ravenâ€¦?"

She turns to Phoenix.

"Yes?" Raven said to being confused. "Huh? Phoenix? Is there something wrong?"

Phoenix had trouble saying anything to a cute girl like Raven.

"Wellâ€¦Umâ€¦Umâ€¦ (Spit it out already!) Listenâ€¦About the kiss, I didn't mean tooâ€¦"

Raven then smiles to place her hand on to his to then turning red.

"Kiss me?" she said. "It's okay. I kind of like itâ€¦For someone who's cute as you are. Never met a guy whose kind as you are, and really cute."

"Really?!" said Phoenix to trying to calm himself down in front of her. "(Keep it together, Phoenix Wrightâ€¦!)"

"I mean, you are. To some goth like weirdo like me. Who would want to fall for me?"

Not true, not to Phoenix that is to saying that he was deeply in love with Raven, love at first sight for him really in a very long time.

"Hey, hey. That's not true. You're really beautiful, Raven. To me you areâ€¦"

He places his hands around Raven's waist to the other on her face to be looking right at her, staring for a few momentsâ€¦

"You really think so?" Raven asked.

"I wouldn't be lying to you if you weren't living with meâ€¦" Phoenix then asks Raven this question. "So, would youâ€¦?"

Raven knew then on what he was about to ask her to answer quickly.

"Be your girlfriend? Yes, I will, Phoenix Wright. (That kiss proved how much you cared about me to know I liked you back. Not to mention defending me against Bobby from hurting me proves everything.)"

Once Raven said that to Phoenix, he started cheering with joy to soon try calming down.

"YES! Oh! Sorryâ€|"

Raven and Mia just laugh with him.

"Oh, Phoenix. It's okay, really."

He felt shy now having Raven as his new girlfriend.

"Thank you, Raven, you were great today. We make a great team."

"That we do." Said Raven. "Mia, thanks for everything. Couldn't have done all of this without your help, or Maya's either."

And for that, Mia was happy for them being a couple to be smiling about.

"I'm glad to see you two as a couple now, good for you, Wright. And Raven, watch on his work for me too." She said. "Anyways, my time here is running out."

Phoenix was confused for Raven understood why it was happening to her.

"Ohâ€| She's a ghost, Phoenix, she comes and goes if need be. I'm afraid Mia has to at least her death been in vain. (Still, I knew powers like these were real all along.)"

She was right about thatâ€|

"She's right, Wright. Maya's powers are still weak, so I can't stay too long."

But still Phoenix try saying something to Mia.

"No!" he said to Mia. "There's still so much to say!"

"Wright? Can you and Raven come to the office tonight? Say, 9:00 PM?" she then says this to them. "And thank you both so much for fighting to save Maya."

Still sad for both Phoenix and Raven to see Mia's spirit to go away again, but they'll be seeing her again.

"Miaâ€|" Phoenix was sad.

"Bye. And thank you again." Raven says her good-byes too Mia.

Soon Mia closes her eyes for her to pass out for Phoenix and Raven to catch her in time after that. What was that? I guess Maya was back now since her sister in spirit had to leave, she did great to wake up to see on what happened.

"Oh, Mr. Lawyer. Raven. Iâ€|" she said to try getting back up.

"Hey, it's all good, Maya. We did it." Said Raven.

Phoenix smiles at Maya.

"It's all right. We won."

"Really?" she asked. "I'm so gladâ€|"

She then sleeps for a while for Raven to give her some room on the couch until she calls for a taxi, she or Phoenix couldn't have won the case without her and Mia's help.

"I know. It hard, she'll come around time to time. "Raven said to Phoenix.

"You're right, Raven." He said to saying this to Maya quietly.
"(Thank you, Maya.)"

From good news of Mia's spirit living on forever, Maya was good at something to them, her and Phoenix were saved, Raven loved her new line of work, and all's well that ends well in the end for them â€" with one more thing they had to do tonight for hours later getting to 9:00 PM already, as the two headed to Fey & Co. Law Offices as promise to see or hear what Mia wanted them to go over forâ€|Thanks to Phoenix giving Raven a ride on his bike to get there in time on the dot. Parked outside of the building, Phoenix checks his watch to be looking at the room knowing that Mia might be there for something from controlling Maya again, Raven couldn't wait but to hear the news.

"We made it, Phoenix, let's go in." said Raven.

Once inside of Mia's old office to being so dark in the room, the two entered to see 'what they think' it was Mia again. Well, not reallyâ€|But someone that they know of.

"You both came."

"Mia?" Phoenix asked if it was Mia.

Raven and Phoenix walk up to her.

"I was a little worried you two might not."

This confused them.

"Really?" Raven said.

"Why wouldn't we?" same with Phoenix.

Then she says something else quite differently to not sounding like Mia at all.

"Well, I'm pretty hungry." Then out of the shadows appeared Maya instead. "How about we get some burgers?"

To Raven she knew it was Maya all along. Justâ€|Not for Phoenix of course to have his face changed to not seeing this part coming.

"M-Maya?!" he said with a surprise on his face.

"It was Maya, you silly." Raven said to Phoenix.

Maya then laughs just like Raven was to her new boyfriend.

"You should see your face!" she said.

Raven kind of found that part to be funny.

"Nice one, Maya."

"Why are you here?" Phoenix asks Maya.

A message from Mia for Maya to say to them.

"Before she disappeared earlier, I heard my sister's voice. She told me to come here tonight, at 9 PM."

Makes sense there for Phoenix and Raven to get.

"Ohâ€|" said Phoenix.

But wait, there was more for Maya to sayâ€|

"And one more thing."

"What?" both Phoenix and Raven said.

"She asked me to take care of you two!" Maya said to them.

This was something new for them too.

"Take care ofâ€|huh?" Phoenix was lost.

"You mean for you to care of both Phoenix and me?" Raven asks Maya.

"She meant the office! This office!" she corrects them. "Maya Fey, reporting for duty."

With that for Maya was now joining their group, news to Raven and Phoenix to be completely speechless on his end.

"The office?" he said.

Maya goes up to Raven.

"Ah, Maya?" she asked.

"Hey, Raven, will always be my best friend, right?" asked Maya.

Maya hugs Raven for she likes to be friends too just not when she's squeezing her to death without knowing her own strength.

"Of course! Just try to watch your strong body by hugging me pleaseâ€|!" Raven said to try to get some air.

Maya let's go of Raven.

"Sorryâ€|"

Raven smiles to be patting Maya on the head to not look so sad.

"Don't worry about it. And hey, this is cool, Phoenix! Welcome to the team, Maya, this is going to be awesome."

Then Maya thought of a name of the place to change instead of the old name that Mia use to work at.

"I know, right? Wright & Co. Law Offices, huh?" said Maya. "It's got a good ring to it. Oh, and let's keep this casual, okay? Please to work with you two, Raven and Nick!"

A new nickname for Maya to give to Phoenix 'since Larry always calls his best friend that all the time'.

"N-Nick?" Phoenix was confused.

"Nickname Nick, huh? Not bad, Maya." Raven said to her.

Maya then puts her arm out to get Phoenix to shake hands with her since she hugged Raven already, but he wasn't doing anything yet. So Maya grabs it for him to shake on it.

"Come on, shake on it."

So Maya was on the team to change the name to 'Wright & Co. Law Offices' for now on, as Phoenix and Raven see the spirit of Mia's placing her hands on their and the other on Raven's.

"(Miaâ€|?)" confused Raven into seeing Mia again.

"Good luck, Wright and Raven." She said to them.

For Raven might've seen her but only for Phoenix to hear her in spirit for some reason. How can Raven and Maya were able to in any spirit like Mia but Phoenix can't but to hear her? With that, they'll be just fine for Maya says this part next.

"Let's get going, then!" said Maya.

"Where?" Phoenix asked.

Maya walks up to Phoenix and Raven to be happy about eating.

"Isn't it obvious? To get burgers!" she said.

"Well, I guess I'm getting hungry too. Let's go!" Raven was in.

"Great!" Maya then pushes Phoenix out for Raven to follow them. "There's a great joint just down the street! We're celebrating our victory tonight. Everything's on you, Nick."

Once Maya close the door and she said that Phoenix was buying out for her and Ravenâ€|

"Wait, what? Why?" he said to her. "Maya!"

All Maya was doing was singing and dancing to eat her favorite meal on the way out.

"Burgers! Burgers!"

Funny, but more for Raven to see Mia's spirit before fading away in the room.

"(I'll always be watching over you both and Maya tooâ€|)" said Mia.

Once she left, Raven knows that with her, Maya, and Phoenix working at Mia's old office, they'll become the best defense lawyer team ever.

"Miaâ€|" she said. "I think this will be nice. I owe Mia so muchâ€|"

Phoenix then calls out to Raven from down the hallways of the building.

"Raven! You coming!?" Phoenix calls out to her.

Raven headed out too with the other two who were waiting for her.

"Coming! (Either way, this will be fun. Time for Phoenix and I to go on our first date.)"

Maya takes them to a nearby burger place to eat as Phoenix and Raven were holding hands with each other, for Phoenix looked happy alright.

"(This is great! I have a beautiful girl on our first date with me! This couldn't get any better. Thanks again, Mia, until next time.)"

What a good way to ending things on a second case finally coming to a close, huh? Butâ€|More to come next time â€" as it shows something on TV on a full moon night of someone moving so fast to jump onto one building of an old building from the Japan feudal aura back then. Wait, a man? Who was heâ€|? Well, someone made of steel, looking all samurai-like, with his weapon, looked strong, fearless, holding a fan, wore red on the bottom, and had a long staff behind his back to hold on to â€" he looked like a true hero. A hero that's most important in the next episode. Until next time.
